

Sniper Fires While Hubbard, Beebe Tour Riot Scene

By AL KOSKI

Senior Inspector Karl G. Parchert, a Thompson sub-machine gun resting on the seat next to him, was at the wheel cruising riot-scarred 12th Street. Up ahead National Guardsmen suddenly crouched to return a sniper's fire.

ALSO IN the car were Dearborn Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, State Senator N. Lorraine Beebe, and myself.

Parchert braked to a stop, backed up, swung into a sidestreet, Blaine. He stopped again, I ran out to snap pictures.

In the car behind, Sergeant Jack Artman scrambled out, rifle in hand. He and Parchert, flanking the two cars, stood guard while just around the corner more sniper shots cracked.

For several long minutes the mayor and Senator Beebe were sitting ducks.

Twelfth Street was deserted then except for truck-loads of guardsmen. Rifles aimed, their eyes searched the darkened second and third floor windows for the sniper who fired.

And from up the block more shots.

"Let's get out of here," Mayor Hubbard said. "Things are getting too hot."

Indeed they were "hot" on this the mayor's second tour of the riot area. It was just after four o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

Both cars moved quickly on Blaine away from the snipers. With Sgt. Artman in the second car were City Attorney Ralph B. Guy Jr., Doane Jackson, director of Research and Information and another reporter.

"Look at that guy over there," Hubbard said, nodding toward a Negro walking. "I think he'd shoot you for two cents. You can tell they just hate whites."

"It's diabolic," Mrs. Beebe, shaking her head, awed by the damage. "You can see it on TV but once you get into it. My gosh."

"The Negroes who did this," Hubbard said, "are mad at themselves, mad at the world, mad at society. They smashed everything in sight."

FOR TWO hours they looked at burned out buildings, at the rubble, at the armed guards and finally at 5:30 they crossed the city limits into Dearborn.

"Now you can breathe easy," said Inspector Parchert. "You're in God's country."

"You know," Senator Beebe said, getting out of the car at City Hall, "I've never been fired upon before."

ORDERS: 'SHOOT ON SIGHT'

SUB-MACHINE gun poised, Mayor Orville L. Hubbard toured Detroit's riot area, pausing to talk with these Detroit Edison employees. On Twelfth Street sniper fire cracked while the mayor was there.

Mayor Orville L. Hubbard today vowed that if rioting and looting splashed over from Detroit into Dearborn that those responsible would be: "Shot on sight!"

"When you have mad dogs running loose," Hubbard said, "you've got to bring them under control by brute force. This is worse than war!"

HUBBARD AT a press conference Wednesday afternoon—prior to making his second tour of the riot-stricken Detroit area—said that what happened there couldn't happen here.

"If those people come here and there is looting they will be shot on sight," Hubbard declared.

Hubbard said "soft-looting by Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and Governor Romney and President Johnson allowed the Detroit riot to get out of control."

"I'd have met force with force," Hubbard said.

"Detroit is a perfect example of the need for strong law enforcement," he added. "We have strong law enforcement in Dearborn."

HUBBARD alternately called Negroes, "niggers," "the colored" and "black men" said the riot was, in his opinion, a culmination of things, including "Martin Luther King raising hell and talk that black power would wipe out the whites."

He said that King and Stokely Carmichael "can't talk like they do day and night," without "supercharging young kids."

HUBBARD thought a share of the blame for the riots in Detroit and elsewhere belonged to the Supreme Court for its liberal bellwether decisions.

BULLETIN

Congressman John D. Dingell (Dem.-16th) today urged President Johnson to immediately declare riot-plagued Detroit a disaster area "so that the full resources of the Federal Government can be made available to restore essential services to full operational levels."

In a telegram to President Johnson, Congressman Dingell said, the devastation in the riot area is of awesome proportions immediate and total action by all levels of government is required if the health and welfare of the people are to be protected.

He suggested, too, that Detroit's poverty programs had managed to "build false hope and frustration" in the Negro community. He noted that Detroit's boast of being a demonstration city "turned out to be just that."

"I heard somebody call the riot instant urban renewal," Hubbard declared, "they did more on urban renewal in 24 hours than what's been done in the past 24 years."

"With all that pollyanna stuff," Hubbard said, "it's almost to the point where you have to salute colored people on the street."

HE PREDICTED the whites now being moved out of their Detroit houses, Negroes would move into them, "and you'll have a Negro mayor there."

"I wouldn't want to live in that jungle," he said, "Who the hell wants to live in Detroit?"

Hubbard was more outspoken about the white-Negro race problem than in previous discussions.

"The Negroes think the white man hates them," Hubbard added, "yet any race that has done as well as they have since the Civil War shouldn't hate the white man who has been their benefactor."

Hubbard recalled a confrontation with the Freedom Now Party's militant Rev. Albert Cleage last July 18th when they shared a platform at Wayne State University.

"I wasn't sure," Hubbard said, "whether to call them Negroes, niggers or colored. I settled on colored but Rev. Cleage told me they wanted to be called 'black men' so I'll call them back men."

ALSO AT the Hubbard press conference were State Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe (R- Dearborn), Senior Inspector Karl G. Parchert, City Attorney Ralph B. Guy Jr., and Doane Jackson, publicity aide of the mayor.

Inspector Parchert, in charge of anti-riot precautions, re-affirmed Hubbard's position to "shoot looters on sight" and noted that during the crisis 20 Dearborn police cars with two men in each have been on the road.

CD Boss Beefs Up Preparation

Boy Scouts aren't the only ones who believe in "Be Prepared."

It has Acting Civil Defense Director, William D. Barnwell, up nights worrying.

Worrying about his responsibility to safeguard Dearbornites in case of emergency.

Barnwell acted quickly since taking over Monday as head of Dearborn's Civil Defense, particularly with a riot threatening.

HIS FIRST step was to set up a 100-bed emergency ward at Oakwood Hospital and across the street at Stout and Howell schools.

Cots were brought in and more than 200 blankets were flown in by the Air National Guard from Alpena, Michigan.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Director of Health, inspected the facilities Tuesday. He said adequate food, and medical supplies were available.

Barnwell met with Peter McMillan, Director of Civil Defense for the City of Detroit. Wednesday night asking for suggestions of other precautions Dearborn should take.

WITH A Dearborn Press reporter sitting in, McMillan pointed out the difficulty of transporting and feeding the hundreds of police and firemen who would be on duty during the crisis, like a riot.

"I'm glad I talked with Pete," said Barnwell. "We can learn from his experience in Detroit and solve the problems."

The problems are similar. Food, mostly huge quantities of meat, milk and col-fee, would have to be provided.

Transportation in getting the foodstuffs and other equipment is also a problem.

"The community service clubs and groups are programmed to meet emergencies," Barnwell said. "I'm sure if we asked, funds for food and other supplies would be donated. Many people would also help."

The City also started to stock pressure-packed parcels of food and medical supplies under a grant issued by the Federal government.

These emergency packs have enough food and medical supplies for seven people.

ALSO MORE than 1,000 specially trained persons have taken the emergency First Aid course offered year-round by the health department.

Officials are thinking ahead to rioters, violence, and in any case "being prepared" for any emergency.

Free Tickets For Readers

If you find your name listed on the classified pages of today's Dearborn Press, you have automatically won two free theatre tickets to the Dearborn Theatre.

Tickets may be picked up prior to the next edition of the Dearborn Press.

Showing this week is the action-packed smash "You Only Live Twice." The exclusive area showing is a James Bond thriller in technicolor.

Riot Scare Hurts Business

The Dearborn business community suffered through the Detroit rioting, but in an indirect way.

People stayed away from city stores Monday and Tuesday, amid rumors that looters would soon head out west on Michigan Avenue.

THE MERCHANTS were fearful, but didn't panic. They did, however, take precautions to head off chaos if the riot spread.

By late Monday afternoon, sales dipped and employees were nervous, listening to news broadcasts. When the Chamber of Commerce suggested a 5 p.m. instead of a 9 p.m. closing hour, most employers complied.

Preparations then began for protecting their goods. Some like the Dearborn Furniture Company couldn't move all the furniture within an hour.

JEWELERS were especially wary. "We locked all the stuff up tight, cleaned out our windows, and put the watches in the safe," said Bill Taylor, owner of Taylor Jewelers.

"I took all my money and important papers home, just in case," said Mrs. Sheila Welsh, owner of the Dearborn Tobacco Company.

Several merchants hid inside their businesses all night—some armed with shotguns.

Concerned that 47 years of hard work might be wiped out in one night, Roman J. Tafelski patrolled the grounds of his Liberty Lumber Company, cradling a deer rifle.

"We had warehouses and a store full of merchandise to be responsible for," said manager Mrs. Edna McGaffey. "Daylight is the only safe time."

Thomas H. Nichols of Nichols Hardware and Sports and Marine Shop also carried a rifle. Sunday night, on advice of police, he cleared out all guns.

Other business firms hired private security guards for protection.

"About 52 guards are patrolling the eastern end of Michigan Avenue," said Don Donnelly of D. J. and E. H. Security Guard Company. Each guard costs $2.75 an hour, working a 12-hour shift.

AS LATE as Wednesday night, private guards still sat in front of places like Blazo's at Michigan near Oakman.

While sales in Dearborn stores were affected this week, an estimate of business loss was not available from Chamber of Commerce executive vice-president Richard L. Chapman. He declined to comment for the Press.

The city, plagued by rumors, received a call from a woman who wanted to buy a dress downtown but was afraid to go because of "all the machine guns on Michigan Avenue."

Dearborn police reported a male caller who asked directions to Mathews Cadillac on Michigan, but wondered if he'd be "unable to pass the barricades on the street."

Business not affected by the riot-fear were the supermarkets. Many residents of Detroit hurried out to the Dearborn stores, and lines to the cashier ran far down the shopping aisles.

"We ran out of bread, milk and eggs quickly," said Robert Simpson of Great Scott market. "Monday and Tuesday were fabulous days for us."

Citizens observed an "unofficial" curfew of 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday nights.

[HURTS BUSINESS, Pg. 3-A]

ESCORTED by Inspector Karl Parchert and Sergeant Jack Artman, State Senator N. Lorraine Beebe viewed riot ravaged Detroit. She termed damage "diabolical."

Guns Cause Trouble

Guns got a lot of people in trouble with the law.

Assault with the intent to murder charges were filed against Donald R. Tolley of 2778 Salina when he fired his rifle at two Dearborn police officers last Monday.

Police said Tolley told them, "I've got a gun and I'll kill you," when he and ten other men were ordered to disperse at 2543 Akron. Officers Stanley Lancuski and Robert Brassell said the shot was fired at their car.

Four men, Giuseppe Stanzione, 31, of 6761 Greenfield; Donald E. Lajiness, 23, and Terry D. Lajiness, 24, both of Detroit and Alexander J. Grandsko, 23, of 7644 Mead, were charged with carrying dangerous weapons.

Police found a loaded shotgun, an automatic rifle, and .38 caliber pistol in a car the four occupied when stopped for what police termed "violation of curfew."

Speeding along Michigan Avenue brought a discovery of a sawed-off shotgun in a car driven by Amos Smith, of 2023 Ford Rd. As Smith got out of his car police spotted the weapon on his front seat. A Federal offense, Smith was turned over to authorities on July 26.

POAD Elects President

The Dearborn Police Officers Association (POAD) finished counting ballots and Patrolman Don White has been elected as new president.

White succeeds William H. Kindred.

Other officers of the POAD elected are: Ron Ericson, vice president; Tom McMahon, secretary; Ed Sikora, treasurer; Emerald Smith, sergeant-at-arms; and Sam Petlichkoff, trustee.

The POAD, recognized as spokesman for the city police officers, represents almost 100 per cent of patrolmen, corporals, sergeants, detective sergeants and lieutenants of the force.

New City Heart Beat—Health Test Center

The city has come up with a new service—a health screening test center where for $2 people can get $300 worth of tests. TESTS ARE designed to detect disease before it reaches serious proportions, said City Health Officer, Dr. Joseph G. Molner who's in charge of the program. The center will open Sept. 15.

This new program has a two-fold purpose," Dr. Molner said. "First, from a scientific standpoint we hope to demonstrate the overwhelming number of diseases and illnesses that go undetected within an outwardly healthy segment of the population. Secondly, we hope to encourage and point up the need for people to schedule regular health check-ups by their own physicians."

DR. MOLNER noted that more than 50,000 persons died in the state last year from chronic diseases; perhaps some might have been prevented if the disease had been detected in early stages. "Everyone over 21 should take the tests," Dr. Molner declared. "Particularly those who think they're perfectly healthy."

"Symptoms often don't occur until the disease has reached serious proportions," he added. "This is why we're particularly interested in testing people who feel healthy."

Included in the tests will be those to detect diabetes, anemia, vascular disease, cholesterol and heart disease, blood pressure and obesity measurements; chest x-rays for signs of tuberculosis, cancer and heart disease; plus vision and hearing tests.

IF THE tests reveal disease symptoms, persons will be referred to their own doctors for additional examination, diagnosis and treatment.

Financed by Federal, state and local funds, residents are required to register for the program. The fee is $2.

INVESTMENT in better health is this check for $3,700 from state funds to help set up Dearborn's new health screening test centers. Dr. Joseph G. Molner (left) city health officer turns it over to City Treasurer William F. Kaiser.

JULY 29 - AUG 2

YOU MAY BE ONE of 3,000 persons interviewed July 29 — August 2 in a comprehensive religious survey that will be taken in the West Dearborn section of our city. Interviews will be conducted by volunteers from the Churches of Christ.

The Dearborn Chamber of Commerce, the Dearborn Council of Churches, and the local police have been advised of this survey. RESULTS OF THE SURVEY WILL BE RELEASED TO THE NEWS MEDIA AND MADE AVAILABLE TO CHURCHES AND INTERESTED GROUPS.

FREE HOME BIBLE STUDIES will be offered to individuals or families desiring such studies.

YOU CAN make this report more meaningful by giving five minutes of your time when a volunteer wearing the religious survey symbol shown above calls on your home.

The owners of beleaguered Hullabaloo club—that Ford Road nightspot for teens—moved quickly this past week to correct nuisances in hope that the city won't close the place down.

"We want to play ball with our neighbors," said Jerry Jack, Hullabaloo's manager.

He pointed to new sound-proofing to cut down the noise, also air conditioning, and orders to psychedelic bands to load equipment so it doesn't disturb neighbors.

NEIGHBORS complained to City Council last week that bands at the club used a rear exit to enter and leave. Jack said bands now will enter through the front door only.

Meanwhile, neighbors in spite of a petition signed by 55 of them asking for the license to be revoked, expressed mixed emotions about the club when interviewed by The Press.

"I don't pay any attention to the Club," said Mrs. Virginia Crawford who lives just 30 yards from the front door of the place. "It's the kids' business what they do. They don't bother us and we don't bother them. We aren't signing anything."

"We found beer cans, whiskey bottles in our front yard," complained Mrs. Arthur Maly of 2205 Robin-dale, who lives two houses away. "We don't believe this kind of place should confront a residential area."

"If my husband was still working midnights," she declared "I'd go over there and tear the place apart."

OTHER neighbors echoed similar complaints. One of them, Mrs. Ann Gordish of 25150 Dostator said, "It's noisy. You can hear the vibrations. I signed the petition."

"You can hear the boom, boom," declared Mrs. Walter Piotrowski Jr., of 2210 Nightingale. "It's noisy and I can't go to sleep."

Mrs. Lorraine Young of 2015 Nightingale said, "It doesn't bother us. I have a daughter who is 14 and I think this keeps teenagers off the street."

A teenager, 17-year-old Mary Pruneau of 1866 Nightingale, hopes the club can stay open. "My parents don't complain," she said.

Leader of the move to close Hullabaloo is its closest neighbor, Edward A. Majewicz, who circulated the petition.

"I think I have a right to have it quiet," said Majewicz. "I work late, and can't sleep. If they can keep the noise down maybe I could live with the other problems."

Council next week will hold its hearing.

Remarkably no curfew was set in the city, unlike the surrounding suburbs.

"The Governor didn't ask me to set one," said Mayor Hubbard, "and you have to do things by his official notice. He's running the show."

A liquor ban was placed on all cities in Wayne County Monday, but Mayor Hubbard, acting on complaints by restaurant owners, tried to get the ban removed Wednesday afternoon.

"I called the State Police and told them that serving liquor in restaurants wasn't the same as in beer gardens," Hubbard said. "But they didn't agree."

David Barnett, owner of Barnett Pontiac who pulled all his cars to the back of the lot for safety, summed up the reaction of the merchants to the possible disaster.

"I think the City of Dearborn has done a remarkable job," he said. "But I took precautions myself because we had no idea to what extent the damage could be. And discretion is the better part of valor."

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George S. Benson—President—National Education Program—Searcy, Ark.

Russia's Great Deception—Cuba

"People always have been and they always will be stupid victims of deceit and self-deception in politics."

—Nikolai Lenin

Published reports on Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's visit with Fidel Castro in Havana, Cuba, give dramatic evidence of the incredible success of Russia's propaganda conquest of U. S. policy-makers and a large part of the American press.

One of the biggest-circulation news weeklies in America, recognized in the past for its cold-eyed appraisal of the duplicity of World Communism, pictured the Soviet boss as a "dove" wanting to halt Cuba's exporting of guerrilla warfare and revolution into Latin America, and Castro as refusing.

"Most reports indicate that the Russians and Cubans found virtually no common ground," said this influential news magazine. Then this astonishing remark was made:

"The Russians are described as being wary of violence in Latin America. They prefer helping Communist parties become respectable."

This reporting is in character with much of the journalism being published throughout America. It is a true echo of what our Government leaders are saying today. This "good, respectable" image for Soviet Communism is the image on which our foreign policy is based. It is a true or a false image?

And what are the dangers involved if it is false?

I believe the image of a changed, trustworthy Soviet Communism as the basis for our foreign policy is dangerous and could be disastrous.

For the next several weeks we shall devote ourselves to reporting results of considerable reportorial research into the facts of the "Great Deception" through which our Government leaders, the American wire services, the TV networks, and other important news outlets seem to have been bewitched.

We intend to use Kosygin's visit to Cuba and Cuba's threat to the free world [under Soviet control] as the focal point of our examination of the deception. The titles of some of our forthcoming columns will be: "The Russians in Cuba"; "The Missiles in Cuba"; "Castro's Biggest Export: Revolution"; "We Are Protecting Red Cuba."

ports are inadequate, frequently buried on newspaper back pages and ignored by the big TV network news programs.

Almost invariably, in such relatively meager reportage, the observation is made that the Russian Red leaders deplore the "erratic" Castro's training of guerrilla bands and leading revolts against the for subverting, fomenting violence, Latin American nations.

I have the sworn word of one of the most respected men in international life that the U. S. State Department does not want Communist Cuba mentioned adversely—because it riles up the American people, and any overt action against Cuba would be contrary to U. S. commitments and would disturb our "good" relationship with the Soviet bosses.

Our National Education Program staff has gathered voluminous sworn testimony from recognized authorities convincing any logical mind that Cuba is in fact not a harmless Castro-controlled and deteriorating island in the peaceful Caribbean but a constantly expanding fortress of World Communism, bristling with Soviet armaments, submarine bases, subterranean missile complexes, and operated as a Soviet outpost, under rigid Russian control, decisively strategic in Soviet plans for conquering the Western hemisphere.

We have eye-witness testimony [which will be reported in subsequent columns] describing "Russian cities" in Cuba, vast underground missile establishments [built and operated today by Russians], a network of subterranean arsenals with huge tunnels and rail transport running sometimes 60 miles and some containing under - mountain runways over which medium-size bombers and Mig 21's [made in Russia] roar, to take flight literally "out of the mouth" of caves like monstrous bats.

There is testimony [of authentic character] describing Russian missiles now in Cuba which measure 60-feet, the size of the IRBM 1500-mile missiles which Russia installed in Cuba in 1962 [then, reportedly, removed] and new missiles approximately 150 feet long—possibly the biggest Soviet ICBM's on which Russia has been developing multiple heads capable of instantaneous deployment, through cluster firings, all over a nation.

The truth about Cuba constitutes a dramatic denial of the fiction on which much of our foreign policy is based. It spotlights the great deception which seems to have victimized our leaders and now is endangering our survival.

AS WE SEE IT

They Buried Civil Rights

The destruction along streets like 12th, 14th, and Linwood was almost total. The looters were there stealing everything and anything they could get their hands on, and some of the even tried to excuse it all by saying it was being done in the name of Civil Rights.

But Civil Rights has to do with equality of man and equal opportunity, regardless of skin color or national origin—not hoodlums, thugs and thieves.

The thief, the hoodlum, the arsonist, the looter is the same regardless of his own image in the mirror.

And the thugs who torched Detroit and terrorized Dearborn businessmen into closing up shop and making people hide in their homes were Negroes bent on destroying law and order.

They were not driven by any overwhelming desire to settle the race problem.

What they did contribute to the race problem was to widen the breach and reconfirm many of the suspicions that certain whites held of distrusting the Negro. And it came at a time when whites, seemingly, had become resigned to accept the revolution in Civil Rights.

But the revolution took on new meaning when whites saw the destruction reaped upon 12th, 14th, Linwood, Korchelav, Michigan Avenue, Jefferson, Joy. A revolution that would have engulfed the whole community had it not been for police and guardsmen, who at the risk of their own lives, restored a semblance of law and order.

And the Negro, who for all these years has cried out against discrimination while pointing an accusing finger at "whitey," saw discrimination practiced in the burning of Detroit.

The "Soul Brother" signs that adorned plate glass windows spared Negro-owned shops from the same destruction vented against white-owned stores.

The watchword in Detroit was burn out the white man, but spare the Negro. Equally ended in the flames and the smoke over 12th Street.

This was Black Power flexing its muscles. Destroy, destroy, destroy, and steal.

While it is true that responsible Negroes tried to head off a full-blown riot, and disclaimed the pillage, nonetheless these were the accepted leaders of the Civil Rights movement and they were helpless to avoid the carnage.

And they showed wisdom in disowning the lawlessness by saying for all to hear that this trouble in Detroit was not another protestation in Civil Rights.

Yet the damage has been done. People killed, others hurt, businesses wiped out, millions upon millions of dollars in losses.

In the still smoldering ruins and buried with all that rubble are the hopes now of Detroit's continued progress in Civil Rights. Too many white people now identify what happened on 12th, 14th and Linwood as the cause-effect of Civil Rights, instead of recognizing it for what it was—lawlessness and contempt for Society by thieves, hoodlums, arsonists and looters.

Let Professionalism Shine

School might not start on time in September.

Teachers refuse to teach unless they have a master contract with the Dearborn Board of Education. But a contract can't come about without hours of negotiations between the Federation of Teachers and the board. And there have been no talks for almost a month.

Negotiations broke off because the board flatly refused to pay the union negotiators almost $11 for each hour they spend at the bargaining table.

And why should the Board of Education pay? Members of the board themselves are lay citizens who serve without pay all year long with one goal in mind—to maintain the excellence of the Dearborn School System. Negotiations cut into their vacation time too.

Approximately 52 issues must be resolved before both sides will agree on the master contract and school doors can open. Before talks broke down, however, more than 100 hours had been spent bargaining, with only seven minor points resolved.

There is only one main issue, however—teachers' salaries. And teachers have reason to complain.

Even though salaries in Dearborn are somewhat higher than surrounding districts, a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree makes $5,050. He does enjoy long vacations, but that balances out by the stack of uncorrected papers and supplementary lecture material he carries home each night.

Teachers want more prestige and are constantly raising their own standards to become more professional.

Most teachers sit in the college classroom at night after they've taught in their own all day, or they go back to the campus during their long "summer vacation."

Yet the school janitor makes more than most of the teachers in the same building.

We agree with the teachers that they need a higher starting salary. Contrary to what the teachers might feel, the board of education realizes this and here is where the problem lies. The board has a responsibility to the children of Dearborn—not only to the teachers. The money has to come from somewhere. If teachers get the $1,000 raise they're asking for, other services must be drastically cut back.

Yet is this "professional" teacher acting like a professional person? Demanding $11 an hour to negotiate his own salary, and threatening to strike if a contract isn't signed, yet refusing to negotiate with the board until August 25, just ten days before classes begin?

While teachers want to be accepted as professional, they should act professional and get on with negotiations.

Lawyer Opposes Legal Marijuana

To The Editor:

I wish to go on record as opposing strenuously the bill introduced by State Senator Roger E. Craig for the legalization of marijuana. While I have a deep respect for the sincerity of the Senator, the passage of this Bill to legalize possession and sale of marijuana would, in my opinion, be a serious mistake.

My opposition is predicated on the experience I derived as an Assistant United States Attorney. While engaged in that capacity for about 17 years, my principal function was the prosecution of peddlars of narcotics, including marijuana. I was in close position to observe the manifestations of a user of marijuana. I learned that marijuana has a vicious effect on the mind of the user. While the use of marijuana is only habit forming as contra distinguished from addition that inflicts a user of heroin, morphine and other derivatives of opium; nevertheless the continued use of marijuana may cause serious consequences.

Marijuana generally destroys the inhibitions of the user allowing the propensities, whatever they may be, full freedom. He may have a propensity to be unduly vicious, or he may have the propensity toward humor, given to inordinate laughter. In fact, in some parts of the country, marijuana cigarettes were referred to as the "giggles." The mind is distorted, affecting the sense of time and space. It creates a false sense of values. As an example, many bank robbers were known to smoke marijuana in order to have the false courage they needed in order to overcome the fear of violence or even death involved in the commission of such crimes. There is a continual danger that the user will become addicted to the use of other narcotics, such as heroin or morphine.

The most dangerous user is one who leads a life of crime and is obsessed with a hatred for a policeman. Marijuana would sometimes give him the false courage to consummate that hatred. Federal Agents would express their preference to apprehend narcotic addicts using heroin, rather than a marijuana user. A heroin user will always act normal and peaceful when under the influence. He is weak physically when suffering from the lack of the drug. The marijuana user is generally abnormal when under the influence of the drug and his conduct is unpredictable.

The use of liquor cannot be placed in the same category as marijuana. Marijuana is far more destructive of the mental and physical structure. The Marijuana Law of 1937 was passed to cope with the deplorable conditions brought on by the indiscriminate use of marijuana. The repeal would not be conducive to the betterment of the present conditions. I

Candidates Forum

Robert A. Selwa, who will be 26 on August 27, is a candidate for election to the City Council. A Dearborn resident since birth, he resides at 5640 Middlesex and works as the news editor of The Dearborn Guide.

SELWA is a 1959 graduate of Fordson High School. He received his Associate in Arts degree from Henry Ford Community College in 1961, his Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism from the University of Michigan in 1963, and his Master of Arts degree in social studies from Eastern Michigan University in 1966.

Active in civic affairs, Selwa is an officer of the Dearborn Democratic Club; the 16th District Democratic Organization; Detroit chapter, Americans for Democratic Action; and the Southeast Dearborn Community Council. His memberships include American Civil Liberties Union; Dearborn Citizens Traffic Safety Council; John F. Kennedy Democrats; Haigh-Clark PTA; Pollution Action Line; and Dearborn Community Health Council. Of Schools Dr. Roy Cole to the HFCC Evaluation Committee. Selwa was elected a precinct delegate in 1964 and re-elected in 1966 from the 26th precinct of Dearborn.

Selwa was appointed by Mayor Orville L. Hubbard to the Citizens Advisory Committee on Housing and Urban Renewal, and by Supt. Selwa's platform is as follows:

"I believe the City can do more in the fight against air and water pollution. Pollution is a growing problem requiring the joint, cooperative action of citizens, industry, and City, State and Federal governments. I favor stronger anti-pollution standards with corresponding enforcement plus voluntary clean-up efforts by the polluters.

"Taxes are one of the major concerns of everyone today. Most candidates declare their opposition to spiraling taxes; that's not enough. I pledge to vote against any unnecessary expenditures and any unnecessary taxes, and to support tax reduction, not only because it will relieve the burden, but also because it will increase purchasing power and economic productivity.

"The City's desire to provide more services must be balanced against the citizens' ability to pay for these services. The City tax rate is so near the legal limit that Mayor Hubbard has begun to talk about instituting a City income tax. My position is: let us look not toward starting new taxes but toward steadying current taxes.

"We might also better utilize the City facilities we have now. I propose that we make use of Camp Dearborn in the winter as well as the summer, by providing skiing, sledding and ice skating on the Camp's hills and lakes. And if ski tows are installed at Ford Field, Dearborn sportsmen won't have to go the long distance they now go to ski.

"Crime is a problem everywhere, but here in Dearborn we are fighting it with imaginative proposals and initiatives like the reward system, the double platoon, and the unmarked cars. I commend the excellent and vigorous job being done by Police Chief John B. O'Reilly and I expect that I will continue to support his proposals. "In addition I shall promote the installation by residents in their front and back yards of gaslight lamps. This will both discourage burglaries and beautify our neighborhoods.

Housing will always be a concern of Dearborn residents, 91 percent of whom live in single-family dwellings. Senior citizen apartments are one of the wisest investments that the City has ever made. Unfortunately the same cannot be said of the piecemeal progress of urban renewal. I understand the problems involved here and will contribute my efforts toward establishing true renewal and assisting the people.

Housing must be developed for both rich and poor, old and young, families and individuals. I support the development of middle income apartment units to encourage our young people to remain in Dearborn. The average age of Dearborn residents was 34 in the 1960 census, three years higher than in the 1950 census and six years higher than the Michigan average. We must avoid becoming an aging community by having old and young alike.

Briefly, I also propose or support the following: establishment of a Commission on Community Relations; development of a municipal golf course; the carrying through of the indoor sports arena proposal; continuation of three-year terms for City officials; weekly meetings for the City Council for public business every Tuesday night; establishment of landscaped shopping malls; and any and all other proposals to improve the health, safety, recreation and beauty of our community.

Terror While The City Burned

The sun was a big ball in the afternoon sky, orange and hot like the flames that lashed out from the liquor store on Joy Road, belching black searing clouds of smoke.

WHITE-HELMETED cops cradled rifles, stood spread-footed on the hot asphalt, sweating inside their blue shirts, eyes bloodshot from no sleep and long hours.

And with the heat from the pavement beating up, and the heat from the sun beating down, and the heat from the flames of the burning liquor store beating out, they had to put up with this and listen to the Negroes mouth off.

One loud-mouth was this husky Negro, his shirt unbuttoned to the waist who walked briskly past the cops yelling, "Let's go to Grand River and burn it up."

That afternoon somebody did go to Grand River and set fire to the white-owned businesses that didn't have "Soul Brother" signs painted on windows. The stores burned real good because rubber-coated firemen couldn't risk raising their hoses. From darkened second and third floor windows, Negroes sighted along the barrel of rifles ready to plug these firemen in the back, if they tried to put the fire out.

THIS WAS Detroit on a Sunday afternoon at the beginning of a riot where people got killed and got hurt and fires burned into the night.

This was race relations conscious Detroit where the sharp crack of gunfire came sporadically from snipers cowered in hiding places aiming at the cops and the National Guardsmen and sometimes at people only because they had white skin.

"What you looking for down here, Whitey?" Negroes called out at passing cars.

What the "whitey's" looked for was the same as the Negroes looked at, except the Negroes were laughing over the smoke and the orange flames and the broken glass and the rubble in the streets.

AND HERE in this part of the inner city the pigment of a man's skin made all the difference. A man with a black face could walk like he owned the street, but one with a white face didn't dare to because he'd get shot, or beaten, or pelted with rocks.

In this riot the white man was the intruder in this sector where the cry has been for equality.

And those fires of Sunday burned and went out and new ones were started. The whine of sirens was steady chasing out to new trouble.

Trouble was everywhere. It came in so many places and at the same time that even with 10,000 city police, state troopers, and guardsmen there still were intersections and alleyways where no uniformed protector was in sight. Only the Negroes lining the sidewalks and sitting on porches and carting off the loot they'd taken from the "soulless" white-owned business places.

And back again to Grand River where a billowing column of choking smoke and sheets of orange flames raged fearfully inside a store.

Nearly a gun-shot.

Troopers and city cops dropped into a crouch by the rear wheels of their cars, poked the deadly black muzzles of their blurr guns at a window and waited.

THEY WAITED and were ready to kill anything that moved behind the white curtain because down here they were told to shoot to protect Society from this hot, steamy jungle that festered with hate. Bullets had become civilization's reply to restore law and order in such a lawless place.

Still, the insurrection mounted. Looters and rioters were arrested and with bayonets poking their flesh climbed into black paddy wagons, carted off to the county jail where justice would begin to extract its price.

Yet almost as quickly as looters and rioters were taken into custody, new ones took their place, until the jail swelled with this, the biggest lock-up of humanity in city history.

Another night came and more orange flames licked out of buildings and the sniping sounded again and now 35 had died.

More soldiers came with awesome weapons and their tanks rolled in the streets and still the Negroes shouted for equality, and cursed and called these protectors of Society bad names.

"Why," one Negro shouted, "aren't you guys in Vietnam?"

AS WE SEE IT

They Buried Civil Rights

The destruction along streets like 12th, 14th, and Linwood was almost total. The looters were there stealing everything and anything they could get their hands on, and some of the even tried to excuse it all by saying it was being done in the name of Civil Rights.

But Civil Rights has to do with equality of man and equal opportunity, regardless of skin color or national origin — not hoodlums, toughs and thieves.

The thief, the hoodlum, the arsonist, the looter is the same regardless of his own image in the mirror.

And the toughs who torched Detroit and terrorized Dearborn businessmen into closing up shop and making people hide in their homes were Negroes bent on destroying law and order.

They were not driven by any overwhelming desire to settle the race problem.

What they did contribute to the race problem was to widen the breach and reconfirm many of the suspicions that certain whites held of distrust of the Negro. And it came at a time when whites, seemingly, had become resigned to accept the revolution in Civil Rights.

But the revolution took on new meaning when whites saw the destruction reaped upon 12th, 14th, Linwood, Korchival, Michigan Avenue, Jefferson, Joy. A revolution that would have engulfed the whole community had it not been for police and guardsmen, who at the risk of their own lives, restored a semblance of law and order.

Russia's Great Deception — Cuba

"People always have been and they always will be stupid victims of deceit and self-deception in politics. . ."

—Nikolai Lenin

Published reports on Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin's visit with Fidel Castro in Havana, Cuba, give dramatic evidence of the incredible success of Russia's propaganda conquest of U. S. policy-makers and a large part of the American press.

One of the biggest-circulation news weeklies in America, recognized in the past for its cold-eyed appraisal of the duplicity of World Communism, pictured the Soviet boss as a "dove" wanting to halt Cuba's exporting of guerrilla warfare and revolution into Latin America, and Castro as refusing.

"Most reports indicate that the Russians and Cubans found virtually no common ground," said this influential news magazine. Then this astonishing remark was made: "The Russians are described as being wary of violence in Latin America. They prefer helping Communist parties become respectable."

This reporting is in character with much of the journalism being published throughout America. It is a true echo of what our Government leaders are saying today.

This "good, respectable" image for Soviet Communism is the image on which our foreign policy is based. It is a true or a false image?

And what are the dangers involved if it is false?

I believe the image of a changed, trustworthy Soviet Communism as the basis for our foreign policy is dangerous and could be disastrous.

For the next several weeks we shall devote ourselves to reporting results of considerable reportorial research into the facts of the "Great Deception" through which our Government leaders, the American wire services, the TV networks, and other important news outlets seem to have been bewitched.

We intend to use Kosygin's visit to Cuba and Cuba's threat to the free world [under Soviet control] as the focal point of our examination of the deception. The titles of some of our forthcoming columns will be: "The Russians in Cuba" . . . "The Missiles in Cuba" "Castro's Biggest Export: Revolution" . . . "We Are Protecting Red Cuba."

The American press generally is reporting some facts on Castro's exporting of subversion and guerrilla warfare, but even these reports are inadequate, frequently buried on newspaper back pages and ignored by the big TV network news programs.

Almost invariably, in such relatively meager reportage, the observation is made that the Russian Red leaders deplore the "erratic" Castro's training of guerrilla bands and leading revolts against the for subverting, forming violence, Latin American nations.

I have the sworn word of one of the most respected men in international life that the U. S. State Department does not want Communist Cuba mentioned adversely — because it riles up the American people, and any overt action against Cuba would be contrary to U. S. commitments and would disturb our "good" relationship with the Soviet bosses.

Our National Education Program staff has gathered voluminous sworn testimony from recognized authorities convincing any logical mind that Cuba is in fact not a harmless Castro-controlled and deteriorating island in the peaceful Caribbean but a constantly expanding fortress of World Communism, bristling with Soviet armaments, submarine bases, subterranean missile complexes, and operated as a Soviet outpost, under rigid Russian control, decisively strategic in Soviet plans for conquering the Western hemisphere.

We have eye-witness testimony [which will be reported in subsequent columns] describing "Russian cities" in Cuba, vast underground missile establishments [built and operated today by Russians], a network of subterranean arsenals with huge tunnels and rail transport running sometimes 60 miles and some containing under- mountain runways over which medium-size bombers and Mig 21's [made in Russia] roar, to take flight literally "out of the mouth" of caves like monstrous bats.

There is testimony [of authentic character] describing Russian missiles now in Cuba which measure 60-feet, the size of the IRBM 1500-mile missiles which Russia installed in Cuba in 1962 [then, reportedly, removed] and new missiles approximately 150 feet long — possibly the biggest Soviet ICBM's on which Russia has been developing multiple heads capable of instantaneous deployment, through cluster firings, all over a nation.

The truth about Cuba constitutes a dramatic denial of the fiction on which much of our foreign policy is based. It spotlights the great deception which seems to have victimized our leaders and now is endangering our survival.

BEAUTIFUL PROGRESS is how the city explains these before and after pictures of the southwest corner of Michigan and Jonathan. Tabbed "unsightly," this old lunch counter was bought and razed by the city, turning it into the new ten-meter municipal parking lot utilized by adjoining businesses.

Drunk Drivers Are Target for Implied Consent

Senator N. Lorraine Beebe (R-Deaorbn) today defined the state's new "implied consent" law as merely another condition of the "privilege" to have a driver's license.

MRS. BEEBE shares the credit for passage of the consent bill that requires applicants for driver's licenses to agree to take a drunk test if arrested on suspicion of driving while drinking.

"This does not take away anyone's rights," Mrs. Beebe declared. "The right to drive a car on the public streets and highways is not an absolute right. It is a privilege and carries with it certain responsibilities—one of them being the responsibility of a driver to remain sober or let someone else drive."

Mrs. Beebe served on a key conference committee that ironed out differences between the Senate and House drafts of the bill, which would have prevented passage unless resolved.

SHE HERALDED the new law as a "strong step toward helping rid the state's highway of drunk drivers."

WHEN THE NEWS of the riots hit the outlying areas, the Interfaith Council went in to action to supply clothing to those left homeless from the burning. Here Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church workers load clothing for delivery to the area.

NEW CHURCHES are springing up in Dearborn Heights. The Fair Haven Assembly of God is the latest, completion planned for September. Rev. Paul Weresch, pastor, said the church is part of a $110,000 building development. When the church complex is finished, Rev. Weresch said there will be a day care center for 40 children. The new church is located on Beech Daly, south of Ford Road.

Truth For Today

We Are Becoming Unglued

By FRANK VAN VALIN

When the Detroit area troubles have been temporarily solved, the politicians, analysts and armchair experts will try to pin point the blame for the terrifying degradation of violence. Some will call it racism, others inefficient police protection, and still others will blame the political system of Detroit.

There is no doubt that any one of these has precipitated grave problems in the inner city. Insecurity and lawlessness have prevailed there for many years.

As I see it, the problem is not localized in Detroit. Such an assumption would be an oversimplification. The cause of Detroit's mobbery lies at the foundations of our way of life. Something vital is missing from our ideals, our values, our disciplines.

Our culture is falling apart at the seams. We have largely rejected the values and principles that have made America great. Family life is disintegrating. Individuals are insecure. We are becoming unglued. We seek ends and ignore the means. The hand out, it is not a helping or giving hand, but a grasping hand which bespeaks materialistic selfishness. It is the "something for nothing" quest that produces lawlessness and hoodlunkism.

The unions are usurping the power which we have misplaced in them. George Meany, James Hoffa, and the multitudes who imitate their way of life want to share the wealth and are destroying man's incentive for achievement.

They have resorted to jungle thinking and barbaric mobbery to accomplish their goals. The dignity of the school teacher has given way to the rabble rousing teachers federation union leaders who are using the teacher as a pawn for power. Even ministers have stepped out of their pulpits and into the fray of feeble minded collectivism.

Poverty programs were not originated by President Johnson. He has simply enlarged the socialistic handouts began a quarter of a century ago, and is escalating the national debt. Our socialism promises steak and butter to the unfortunates who endure chicken and oleo. And we are all reaping the impoverishment of inadequate values.

We are robbing men of individuality and purpose. The craftsmen with their pride are becoming obsolete. Instead of artisans we have butchers. Instead of healthy competition, corruption; greed instead of goodness—crime, corruption and chaos for all.

Look within yourself. Examine your desires, your ambitions, your values. Go to church. Recapture the priorities that cannot be bought or sold. The best things in life are still free, but demand discipline, sacrifice, and hard work.

Keib to Speak at Vespers

Ford Field Vespers will have as their guest speaker the Rev. Almon S. Keib of Westland, and currently a teacher in the Garden City School system, at Ford Field in Dearborn on Sunday, July 30, at 6 p.m.

Mr. Keib is a native of Pittsburgh and is a graduate of Ottawa University in Kansas and of Berkeley Baptist Divinity School at Berkeley, Calif. He has had pastorates in New Hampshire and served the East Detroit Baptist Church for over seven years. Recently he served four years as a camp director for the Pennsylvania Baptist Convention.

Workers to Take Poll

A group of volunteer students from Abilene Christian College together with local Christian workers will conduct an unusual and informative religious survey in West Dearborn, July 29 through Aug. 1, that is designed to help all churches in the community.

The survey will determine the religious make-up of West Dearborn and as far as possible determine the religious thinking and church habits of the people here. Results of the survey will be turned over to the Dearborn Chamber of Commerce office and will be available for use by any religious group or interested individuals. A detailed report of the survey will be released to the news media and copies sent to all churches in the area.

This annual series of vespers services is sponsored by the 12 American Baptist Churches of the Greater Dearborn area and is open to the public. In the event of rain, the service will be held at the First Baptist Church of Dearborn.

Church Notes

Susan Budny Named State Posture Queen

Parents are always telling their teenage sons and daughters to stand up straight, don't slouch your shoulders. Many young people don't realize how important good posture really is.

For Susan Budny it helped her win a beauty contest.

She probably never realized her straight back and graceful walk were such a great asset until she walked away with the crown of Miss Michigan State Posture Queen. And charm helps too.

Susan is in Montreal this week where she will represent the state as a finalist in the 1967 World Queen of Posture Pageant. She will compete for the crown against girls from all states, several Canadian provinces, Puerto Rico and France.

Judging at the pageant is based on 50 points for a straight spine and good all-around posture. Thirty points are given for physical fitness based on the Kraus-Weber tests and the remaining 20 points are for personality and poise.

The world winner will receive cash scholarships and a year of travel and speaking tours throughout the world.

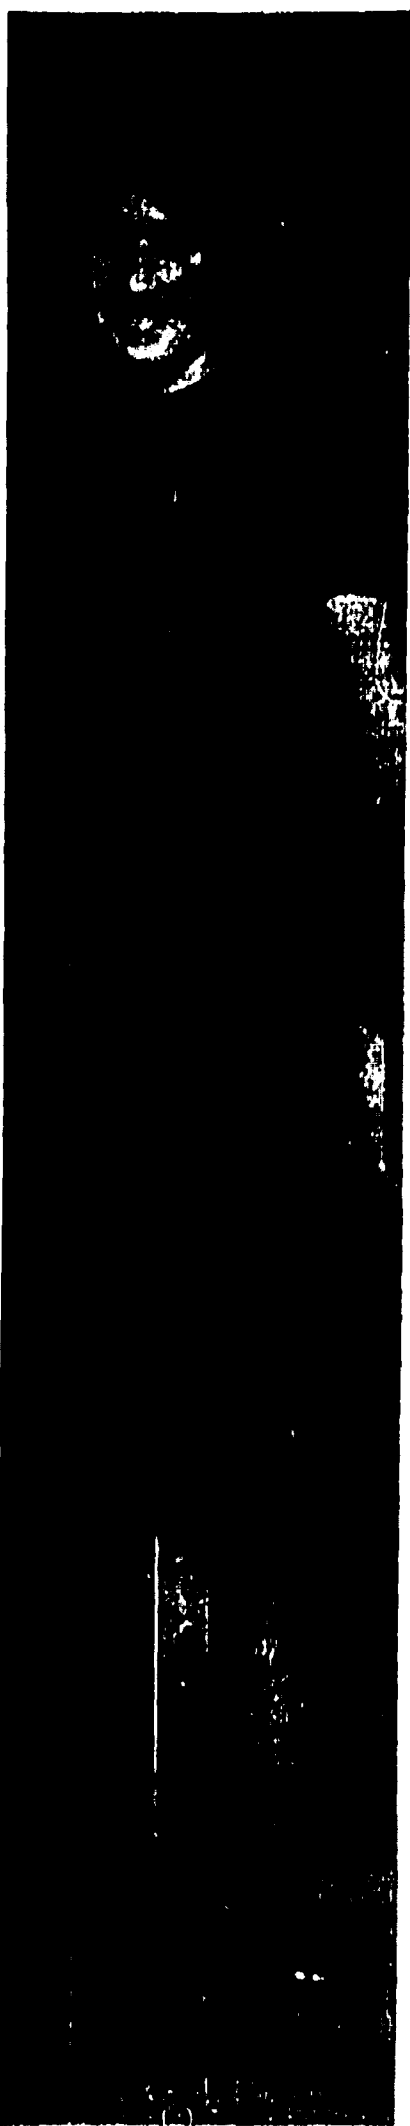

The Montreal World Posture Pageant is sponsored by the Chiropractors of America to emphasize the importance of good posture to good health. This is the 13th year of the pageant, of which Dr. Clair O'Dell of Wyandotte is the executive director.

Susan, 20, attended Michigan State University where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Budny. He is a realtor with offices at 4617 Schaefer.

She will begin training at the United Airlines Stewardess School in late August—only if she doesn't start a world tour with the crown of Miss World Posture Queen on her head.

Reflections on Detroit Rioting

Dearborn Is Close, Yet So Far from Disaster

By BARBARA GRIFFIN
Women's Editor

I was in the middle of the rioting Sunday.

It wasn't a very smart place to be, but the curiosity of the news reporter won out over common sense. Besides, I didn't want anyone to think that a woman journalist can do nothing but cover the society desk.

But it was bad. Twice as bad as you've read in the newspapers and seen on television. You can't smell smoke or hear the insults of the looters on TV. You can't know the feeling of being white on a flaming street lined with Negroes staring in disbelief as their homes and belongings were being destroyed.

It was frightening and I was scared. But it made me want to cry for the innocent people involved, not for myself because I might get hurt.

On that bright, sunny Sunday it didn't take very long to drive down to 12th Street from Dearborn. In fact, everyone in town is aware that the 20-minute drive isn't very far at all. It's much too close.

And climbing to the roof of the Press later that evening, we could see the yellowish-black clouds of smoke as they rose up and out of the burning buildings to settle over the city. They seemed to come from right down the street.

The next morning I could feel how close we were to the riot area just by glancing out of my window down onto Michigan Avenue. All the cars at the dealership across the street were being moved back, far away from the street. The reason? So hoodlums and rioters couldn't hide behind them if they did happen to hit Dearborn and begin looting Michigan Avenue.

People were beginning to panic, realizing it could spread out here. And it was possible, even though Dearborn and the 12th Street area are worlds, if not miles, apart.

Since I couldn't become any more afraid Monday morning than I was the night before, I began thinking about our town itself and all the advantages its residents enjoy here in contrast to the inner-city riot area.

As a new resident in town, I find many things about Dearborn so unique that lifelong residents probably take them for granted. Before I moved to this area, all I knew about the city was that it had a mayor named Hubbard and a big Ford plant. And Greenfield Village. Realizing the scope of the city takes longer.

A suburban area nestling right up against a huge, sprawling metropolis. And suburbia it really is, even though industry and shopping centers flourish.

But Dearborn is different than most suburbs in the Western part of the county. In other areas you drive from one "city" to another, never realizing you've crossed any boundary lines. Character is lacking, all the shopping centers and subdivisions are identical.

But from a woman's point of view, you couldn't find a more ideal community than Dearborn.

An excellent school system, including facilities for earning a college degree within the city limits, fine shopping areas ranging from specialty shops to sprawling discount stores, a free babysitting service, free parking everywhere.

For leisure hours, there are neighborhood swimming pools and parks, Camp Dearborn, resident and day camps for children, one of the finest recreation programs anywhere.

Driving around town, it's impossible not to notice the clean, well-kept homes, with people working on their yards. Zoning ordinances are appropriate, streets are clean. Everyone seems to share a pride in their community.

People are protected here. In case of trouble, stop at almost any intersection and call the police or fire department. A woman who runs out of gas at an inconvenient place will find a policeman coming quickly to her aid.

The police department enjoys the confidence of the citizens, and covering the police beat, I've found it's hard to find much crime here. Rather surprising, considering we're so close to an area where the crime problem has been in the spotlight for so many months.

Yes, we're close to it, yet far away in the type of life citizens lead. But many Dearborn women want to help and are organizing campaigns to aid those Detroit families who have been completely wiped out without cause. Food, clothing and shelter is being provided for those who have none.

It has been a tragic week for the whole area, and it might not be over yet. And cut off from the big city out here in Ford country with so much provided for us, we're still very much a part of it.

Meribeth Matulis To Study in Spain

Meribeth Matulis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony S. Matulis of 1645 N. Silvery Lane, has a busy year ahead of her.

She is spending the summer in Middlebury, Vermont where she is enrolled in the Spanish School at Middlebury College. Only the Spanish language is spoken in this intensive program.

She will return briefly to Dearborn at the end of the summer before taking off September 2 for Madrid, Spain, where she will spend a year studying at the University of Madrid for her master's degree in Spanish.

Meribeth is already familiar with Madrid, having spent a year there while a student at Kalamazoo College where she received her degree.

During the past year she has been teaching Spanish and English at Garden City West Senior High School.

Two Couples Celebrate Anniversaries

Two Dearborn couples were honored on their 50th and 60th anniversaries last week.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Koukowski of 5758

Ogden were honored by their parents Sunday, July 16. The day began with Mass at St. Cunegundis Church and ended with a reception for the couple at Carpenter's Hall.

Planning the party for their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Koukowski, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koukowski, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Koukowski, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zasuwa, Helen Tomaszewski, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Proulx.

A highlight of the day was the presence of Mrs. Koukowski's sister from Poland, Bolesla Krasnodebraska. The sisters haven't seen each other in 60 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Pressman of 439 S. Vernon honored her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stapleton of Freda Ave., at a party in their home to celebrate the couple's Golden Anniversary. A champagne toast to honor 50 years of marriage highlighted the Golden Wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stapleton, Sunday.

The party was given by their daughter, Mrs. Warner Pressman of 439 S. Vernon, and featured a centerpiece of a gold vase with yellow roses.

Another daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Brown, came from Chicago for the occasion. Other guests included the couple's five grandchildren, and Mr. and Mrs. Evans Seasing, Mr. and Mrs. George Sterk, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Cable, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roberts.

UF Volunteers Named for West Dearborn

Mrs. Michael G. Orlovich, 855 Golf Crest Drive, Torch Drive Division Chairman for West Dearborn, today named the nine Area Chairmen who will assist her in enrolling, training and directing volunteers for the "Give Once For All" campaign here.

Chairmen are Mrs. Peter Nunez, 22700 Garrison Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Russel D. Catherman, 22049 Gregory; Mrs. Arthur H. Strickert, 24635 Penn; Mrs. John Tracz, 1701 Highway; Mrs. Stanley J. Cohlentz, 22737 Arlington; Mrs. R. Bates Feuell, 24734 Rockford; Mrs. Robert A. Cousins, 23251 Cherry Hill Road; Mrs. Edward B. Pepke, 2065 Raymond; and Mrs. Matthew Koppinger, 3731 Hipp.

Mrs. Nunez will head the drive in Area One bounded by Kean, Outer Drive, Golfview, and Ford Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Catherman were named co-chairmen of Area Two, bounded by Park Street, Outer Drive and Gertrude. Mr. Catherman has been a district chairman and chairman for UF of the West Dearborn Business and Professional area.

Mrs. Arthur Strickert will lead the campaign in Area Three, west of Grindley Park to Park Street to Scott to the city limits. She was a block volunteer in 1965 and 1966.

Women Busy with Club, Charity Work

An old fashioned ice cream social on a warm summer night is a wonderful way for friends to get together.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ludwig of 22905 Buckingham will host such a party for the Dearborn Chapter No. 421 Order of the Eastern Star at 8:30 p.m. August 3.

Not many people celebrate their birthday with a huge banquet given by old friends. But that's exactly what's in store for Judge John Kadela September 7.

The dinner program, sponsored by Helen Pierce and Frank Padzieski, will be held at 8:30 p.m. at Edsel Ford High School with honored guests including Mayor Orville Hubbard, Congressman John Dingell, Judge Lila Neunfelt, Councilman Vince Fordell, Michael Berry and John Fish.

Tickets for the affair may be purchased from the chairman before the event.

Every successful event takes a lot of advance planning to make it successful. And the Dearborn area Ticket Committee for the Meadow Brook Theater are mapping out plans now for the coming play season to begin October 6 at Oakland University.

The women met July 19 at the home of their chairman, Mrs. Keith Zerschling, to plan their prelate of season tickets for the drama festival of seven plays. The John Fernald Repertory Company is beginning its second season at Meadow Brook, and the season this year is extended to 35 weeks and seven plays with five performances each week.

Mrs. Zerschling's committee will sponsor a tea September 19 for Dearborn Women to hear a presentation by the Meadow Brook Theater staff. "Dearborn Night at Meadow Brook" is scheduled for November 12, with a buffet dinner preceding the play.

Serving with Mrs. Zerschling on the Dearborn Committee are Mrs. Lincoln Solberg, Mrs. Frank Damiano, Mrs. James Morgan, Mrs. Richard Osborn, Mrs. Warren Stobbe, and Mrs. Thomas Page.

The Women of the Moose are never idle. Their club calendar is filled each week, keeping the members of Dearborn Chapter No. 495 busy.

This week the women have been attending ritual meetings in surrounding chapters. They had their own business meeting July 25 and honored co-workers with July birthdays.

August 1 they will enroll new members at Officers' Chapter Night.

THINK ABOUT IT!

JOE PETERSON

The plight of starving people is not a pleasant sight. But it does exist. Poverty or food shortages cause malnutrition or starvation in more countries than most people imagine. Look at the known list—

Argentina, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Borneo, Brazil, Burma, Cameroun, Ceylon, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Cuba, Egypt, Greece, Haiti, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Iran, Jamaica, Jordan, Kenya, Korea, Lapland, Lebanon, Macao, Malaya, Mexico, Nigeria, Northern and Southern Rhodesia, Okinawa, Pakistan, Paraguay, Philippines, Portugal, Puerto Rico, South Africa, Spain, Switzerland, Syria, Taiwan, Thailand, Turkey, Uruguay—and believe it or not—segments of the Indian and Negro races in the United States.

In today's world of parasitic politics, either malnutrition or starvation of human beings is shameful and disgraceful. Doesn't it seem proper to ask when civilized nations will stop squandering billions in armaments and heed the prophet Isaiah, "... They shall beat their swords into plowshares... neither will they learn war any more?"

July Weddings Brighten Summer Social Scene

Walczak-Scullen

Marygrove College Chapel was the setting for the July 8 marriage of Kathleen Mary Walczak and Peter Raymond Scullen.

The solemn High Mass was performed by the Rev. Raymond Clancy, the groom's cousin, who is pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Roseville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony S. Walczak of 5035 Belmont and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Scullen of Detroit.

For the 5 p.m. vows, the bride wore a gown of silk satin with Alencon lace and seed pearls on the bodice. The lace sleeves were slightly belled and deep lace trim was applied on the hemline. The lace train fell from the waist, and her veil was Dior Rose Flower.

A bouquet of white roses, white carnations and the traditional orange blossoms completed her ensemble. Miss Diane Theresa Walczak attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Scullen, Miss Jan Collins, Miss Joan Adamski and Miss Patricia Adamski.

Best man for the ceremony was Robert S. Scullen, brother of the groom. Seating the guests were Alexander Walczak, Hugh Scullen, William McSeiveen, and Louis Lindeman Jr.

Miss Mary Ellen Scullen and Miss Stephanie Scullen preceded the bride down the aisle as her flower girls.

Following the ceremony, guests were greeted at a formal dinner reception at the Dearborn Inn.

The couple will make their home in Los Angeles where both will be graduate students at UCLA.

MRS. RONALD HARWORTH

Neuman-Harworth

In a candlelight ceremony in Dearborn Woods United Presbyterian Church, Jayne Marie Neuman exchanged wedding vows with Ronald Joel Harworth on June 24.

A reception in the Continental Congress Inn followed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Neuman of 22270 W. Outer Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lilley of Royal Oak are the groom's parents.

The bride donned a full-length white gown with long sleeves, having a fitted underdress of peau de soie covered by English net with Alencon lace giving a cage effect. The bottom was trimmed with a satin border as was the panel train. Completing the outfit was a shoulder-length veil held by a pearl crown headpiece.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and white elegance.

Matron of honor for the ceremony was Miss Carol Kahn. Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Fance, Miss Bonnie Lowrie and Miss Nancy Joan Hornak.

Lawrence Burlison served the groom as best man. Ushers included Michael McKinna, John Hecock and Thomas France.

The bride's niece and nephew, Miss Anne-Marie Neuman and Kelly Neuman, were flower girl and ring bearer.

The couple left for a West Coast honeymoon with Tustin, California, as their destination. They will make their home in that city where the groom is stationed with the Marine Corps and the bride will teach school.

The new Mrs. Harworth was graduated from Edsel Ford High School and Central Michigan University and taught at Ford School for two years. The groom is a S-Sgt. in the Marine Corps and recently returned from a tour of duty in Viet Nam.

SUSAN MEAD

JUDITH TERREBERRY

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond U. Mead of North East, Pennsylvania, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Louise, to Dr. John Douglas Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Baker of 3037 Syracuse Ave. The bride-elect is a senior at Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, where she is affiliated with Alpha Gamma Delta, Mortarboard, and Kappa Delta Pi. Her fiancé was graduated from Edsel Ford High School, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University School of Medicine. The wedding will be Feb. 24.

The engagement of Judith Ann Terreberry to Gerald N. Ferencz was announced by her mother, Mrs. Austin J. Terreberry of 24350 Union. She is also the daughter of the late Mr. Terreberry. Mr. Ferencz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferencz of 24323 New York. The bride-elect was graduated from Dearborn High School and attended Eastern Michigan University. He is also a graduate of Dearborn High and is now a senior engineering student at the University of Michigan where he is affiliated with Chi Phi fraternity. The couple will be married next spring.

Preislen-Mattice

Marsha Joyce Preislen became the bride of John Charles Mattice July 8 at 7 p.m. in the Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church. Dr. W. Kogore performed the double-ring ceremony.

A dinner reception at the Dearborn Holiday Inn followed the vows, and the couple left for their two-week honeymoon at Cave Haven in the Pocono Mountains.

The bride wore an empire gown of ivory silk organza trimmed with lace and seed pearls. Her shoulder-length train was ivory silk organza with embroidered trim, and her veil was caught by a headpiece of organza petals trimmed with lace and seed pearls.

A cascade of white carnations and blue stephanotis centered with a yellow orchid completed her ensemble.

Attending the bride was matron of honor Mrs. Laurel Lanam and bridesmaids Miss Diane Jordan, Mrs. Dorothy Bargerstock, Miss Kathy Henz and Miss Jane Morrison, Miss Starr Lynn Preislen was the flower girl.

Best man for the ceremony was Burton Bargerstock and ushers included Tom Files, Bill Lanam, Jerry Lowe and Rodney Wenzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Preislen of 1718 North Highland are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. John Mattice of Rockwood are the parents of the groom.

MRS. JOHN MATTICE

A REMINDER

The Dearborn Press will accept engagement announcements and wedding writups of area couples. There is no charge for this service, but the Press asks that the bride observe our deadlines and requirements so we may print her announcement as soon as possible.

Engagements are printed in the order which they are received as space permits each week. Pictures must be a 2x3 wallet size or a $2 charge will be made to cover photographic costs.

Picture size may vary for the wedding articles, but please no 8x10s, if possible. Pictures and information about the ceremony must be in the society editor's office by Friday afternoon preceding the next Thursday's edition. If this deadline is not met, the article will be printed as soon as space permits.

Forms for engagement announcements and wedding information are available at the Dearborn Press.

Lois Young Weds Leonard Stenger

A six-week European honeymoon followed the marriage of Lois Maria Young to Leonard Anthony Stenger July 15 in Divine Child Church.

The 11 a.m. double-ring ceremony was performed by Father Michael Donovan from St. Mary's Student Chapel in Ann Arbor.

The bride wore a floor-length A-line gown of peau de soie with short sleeves and a detachable train. The bodice and hemline were accented with lace appliques. A bouquet of English ivy, phalenopsis and stephanotis completed her ensemble.

Miss Kathleen Young was maid of honor for her sister and also sang a solo during the ceremony. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Anthony Ventura, Miss Donna Schwab and Miss Debbie Young, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

Best man for the ceremony was Robert Novak and seating the guests were the bride's brother, Ralph Young, and Dominick LaBianca. The groom's nephew, Robert Godfrey, was ring bearer.

Miss Fleming, Gary Johnson Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Stetson Fleming of Tustin, California, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dana Corrine, to Gary Scott Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wesley Johnson of 4512 Pardee, Dearborn Heights. Mr. Johnson was graduated from Lowrey High School, attended Henry Ford Community College and will graduate in February from California State College where he is affiliated with Tau Beta Pi and Pi Tau Sigma, honorary engineering fraternities. The bride-elect was graduated from California State College with a degree in sociology. The couple will be married Sept. 9 in Tustin, Calif.

DANA FLEMING

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Young of 24731 Newton Place, Mrs. William Stenger and the late Mr. Stenger of Brooklyn, New York, are the groom's parents.

Guests were greeted immediately following the ceremony at a reception at the Dearborn Country Club.

The newlyweds will make their home in Ann Arbor where the groom is completing requirements for his Ph.D. in chemical engineering at the University of Michigan and the bride will be employed as a social worker for the Washtenaw County School System.

Best Man Needed Strength, Courage

There's a reason why the "best man" in the wedding party is given that title.

It dates back to ancient times when the best man had duties that were neither pleasant nor safe. He had to be a strong, brave fighter to accompany the groom as an armed escort to help in capturing the bride.

In later times when the groom no longer had to kidnap his bride, he still needed the best man's protection, as a rival for her hand might appear at the last minute and sweep her away before the ceremony.

Drapack-Stocke

A Bermuda honeymoon followed the July 8 wedding vows of Judith Ann Drapack and James Edward Stocke. The 11 a.m. mass was performed by Father Reckinger and Father Febber in St. Anselm's Catholic Church.

For the double-ring rites, the bride wore an A-line gown of candlelight peau de soie with Alencon lace trim on the bodice, Kabuki sleeves and hemline. Her train, falling from the shoulder, was of Alencon lace, and the silk illusion veil was held by a Dior bow trimmed with matching lace.

Her bridal bouquet was a crescent cascade of ivory bridal roses and stephanotis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Michael P. Drapack of 1841 N. York and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stocke of 6302 Burger, Dearborn Heights.

The groom's sister, Miss Christine Stocke, attended the bride as maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were Mrs. Elaine Kimball, Miss Grace Miller and Miss Ann Kowais.

Three solos were sung by William Norton during the nuptial mass and he was accompanied by organist Mrs. Margery Kline.

Robert Ziegler was best man for the ceremony and seating the guests were Robert Mackstaller, Michael Hlady and Daniel Sokoloski.

Immediately following the ceremony a family breakfast was held at the Copper Door. At 7 p.m. that evening, wedding guests were greeted by a buffet dinner reception at Lofy's.

Following their eight day honeymoon in Bermuda, the newlywed couple will make their home in Ann Arbor.

MRS. JAMES STOCKE

Elizabeth Brown to Wed Dennis Bozyk

Mr. and Mrs. F. Douglas Brown of 7120 Bingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ann, to Dennis Paul Bozyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bozyk of 23251 Beech.

The bride-elect attended Henry Ford Community College and will graduate from the University of Michigan, Dearborn Campus this summer.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, attended Henry Ford Community College, and was graduated from the University of Michigan, Dearborn Campus. He will receive his master's degree from U. of M. this summer.

The couple will be married August 4 in Sacred Heart Church.

Bridal Veil Origin

The silk illusion or lace bridal veil of today certainly has changed since ancient times.

Originally it symbolized the safe "wrapping up" of newly-acquired goods, meaning the bride, and was size of a bed sheet which covered her entire body during the ceremony.

High School Scene

Two young Dearborn debaters talked themselves into a year-tuition scholarship at Eastern Michigan University.

For their excellent performance during the High School Forensic Institute this summer, Christine Lejeau and William Black, both of Dearborn High School, were among the six students to win the coveted scholarship awards.

Their debating skill gave Dearborn two of the four debate finalists, with Chris and Bill speaking on the subject, "Resolved: That Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures."

Three Dearborn area high school students have just completed a summer Communications Arts Workshop on the Michigan State University campus.

They include Jeff Rupe, 22870 Law, a student at Dearborn High School who studied debate-forensics, and Helen Krowicky, 25718 Baldwin, and Charles Williams, 5948 Fairwood, students at Crestwood High School who studied journalism.

During their two-week stay on the MSU campus, the three students received basic and advanced instruction in printed newspapers, debate and forensics, yearbook editing, television and radio presentation and production, and technical theater from MSU and guest faculty.

TEENAGE GIRLS do care about other things besides sunbathing, dancing and boy-watching. Some of them even like to cook during the leisurely hours of summer vacation. Or at least they like learning how, as these eight Dearborn girls did recently at the Michigan Consolidated Teenage Cooking Demonstration. Watching intently as home economist Margaret Stack prepares new party foods are (left to right) Beverly Plaza, Cynthia Bruce, Marilyn Mynath, Carol Jean Zakhar, Betsy Todd, Kathy Cole, Janet Howe and Nancy Jones.

For Excellent Grades:

Collegians On Dean's List

Scholastic honors were received by more Dearborn area students as notices of their academic excellence keep pouring into the Dearborn Press.

Awarded a place on the Dean's List for spring semester are Christopher A. Michno, 13213 S. Morrow Circle, Xavier University; Mary Jane Kuhns, 7858 Littlefield Blvd., Muskingum College; Kenneth Owen Slater, 6634 Silvery Lane, David Lipscomb College; Susan Anderson, 7475 Mohawk, Northwood Institute; William Rogers, 522 N. Lafayette, Northwood Institute.

Western Michigan University students honored for high grades are Susan Bell of 7659 Amboy, Marilyn Dixon of 22345 Gregory, Mary Gorton of 23629 Fordson, John Hamernik of 5819 Miller, Judith Kleinbrook of 8201 Hazelton, Sue Ann Koehler of 23220 Olmstead, and Ronald Kopka of 4726 Westland.

Other Western students on the Dean's List are Sam Lamerato of 6730 Beech Daly, Anna Meszycynski of 3847 Merrick, Louise Miller of 10 Dover Lane, Joseph Poceta of 4132 Dudley, Ann Rea of 5418 Calhoun, Roy Lee Rogers of 6639 Kingsbury, Patricia Rottman of 2758 Syracuse, Christine Young of 320 River Lane, and Ann Zawacki of 12950 S. Morrow Circle.

Michigan State University president Dr. John A. Hannah will host a dinner in the fall to honor MSU students who achieved an All-A record during the spring term.

Dearborn All-A students to be honored are David J. Eaton of 24932 Newton, Carole J. Fawley of 1746 Carlyle, Thomas G. McCarty of 5770 Golfview Dr., John A. McDougall of 154 Meridan and William T. Szalay of 23106 Wilson.

Three students placed on the Dean's Honor List for scholarship during the spring quarter at Wayne State University College of Engineering.

They are Warren J. Anderson of 3644 Roosevelt, Joseph A. Paja, Jr. of 5231 Chase, and Antonio Sammut of 3846 Mayfair.

Also earning a place on the Dean's List for superior spring term grades are Frederick A. Robbins II, 7 Abington Lane, University of Colorado; and Carolyn Berry, 7456 Lafayette, Evangel College.

DAVID CHEYNE is discovering America first this summer as one of 30 national winners in the Clearall "Discover America" sweepstakes. David, a Riverside High School student, was selected from among thousands of entrants to take the two-week tour which includes stops in Washington, D.C., Chicago, New York City, Phoenix, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. David is pictured above with two other winners, Sharon Spilner of Oregon and Frank Sowa of Chicago, as they just ended their visit to the United Nations Security Council.

News From the Campus

Nancy M. Powalk of 20700 Fairview, Dearborn Heights, has been awarded a $1,000 grant in pharmaceutical analysis at the University of Michigan.

A fourth-year student in the College of Pharmacy, Nancy will explore the near-infrared spectral region as a potential for pharmaceutical analysis. She will be supervised by Dr. Joseph E. Sinheimer, associate professor of pharmaceutical chemistry.

Raymond Kowal of 4325 Bingham has been admitted to the Graduate Program of the Chrysler Institute of Engineering. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and holds bachelor of science degrees in mechanical engineering and engineering mechanics.

Kowal is enrolled in a two-year master's degree program conducted in cooperation with the University of Michigan at its Dearborn Campus.

Studying modern dance at the Connecticut College summer dance program is Carolyn Seabright of 20815 Donaldson.

A student at Purdue University, Carolyn is spending six weeks on the Connecticut campus this summer to study under distinguished professional choreographers and concert performers.

Robert Carney on Peace Corps Staff

Enjoying the sun and surf of Hawaii while training for the Peace Corps is Robert Carney of 22810 Alexandrine Drive.

A recent graduate of the University of Michigan majoring in political science, Robert is now a student at the University of Hawaii learning the language and customs of Thailand.

He will soon leave for Bangkok where he will serve as a Peace Corps volunteer in the Public Health Service. Robert will probably take a good, hard look at the newspapers in Thailand during his service in that country, and might be able to offer some journalistic aid to the Thai.

While at the U of M, he spent four years on the staff of the Michigan Daily, and was associate editorial director of the paper during his senior year.

He also received the Alice Beggdorff silver award for outstanding work on the Michigan Daily prior to his graduation from the University in June.

CMU Freshmen

Ten Dearborn students participated in the pre-registration and orientation period on the Central Michigan Campus.

Students attending the summer CMU program are: David Gobel of 21585 Gregory, Annette Garner of 23120 Nona, F. Francis Tallian of 19015 Audette, Cynthia Hadson of 7826 E. Morrow Circle, Susan Massaro of 7901 Oakman Blvd., Cheryl Cardelli of 6321 Bingham, Thomas Sarr of 6215 Mead, Judith Barton of 23130 Oak, Karen McCole of 1340 Kingsbury and Martha Cole of 751 Mayburn.

Attend Reunion

Three Dearbornites felt a bit nostalgic as they attended the 25th reunion of their Pontiac Central High School graduating class.

Herbert V. Rowe of 1828 Robindale acted as master of ceremonies for the reunion held July 7 in Pontiac's Elks Temple. Rowe was vice-president of the 1942 class.

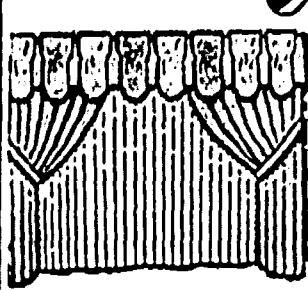

Other "local" grads reliving old memories of the Pontiac Chiefs were Mrs. Bette Dunaway of 1730 N. Franklin and Mrs. Geneva Enokin of 6218 Berwyn, Dearborn Heights.

Profile: The Lady Judge

By DELORES DARLING
The Dearborn Press presents another profile in the series, Dearborn's First Ladies. Honored this week is Judge Lila M. Neuenfelt.

IF YOU WERE . . . The Honorable Lila M. Neuenfelt . . . You are one of the relatively few women in the nation—and the world—who is correctly addressed as Your Honor; this is a title accorded you by virtue of your judgeship to the Circuit Court Bench for the Third Judicial Circuit, to which you ascended in November of 1965 for the third consecutive term.

In 1921 you moved to Dearborn from Highland Park and in this year you first served the Court in Dearborn as Court Clerk. In 1929 you were elected to one of the two full-time judgeships with Judge Schaefer of the Municipal Court of Dearborn. You were re-elected in 1931, 1935 and again in 1939.

It was with regret some residents of Dearborn saw you move to the Circuit Court Bench in 1945 . . . but they helped vote you in to this position which you share with two other women and 26 men.

YOU KNEW your way around the courtroom well before your first appointment as Court Clerk; you are, as the law dictates, an attorney-at-law.

Of your job on the bench you say: "It's the most fascinating work in the world. I like every bit of it." But trial work is the form of the body of law you prefer to deal with, above all others. And, as a Circuit Court jurist, you judge cases ranging from the simple defilement of building restrictions to murder, first degree.

Trial cases usually involve juries, but they only serve to arrive at the verdict. I say, a person accused of murder comes before your bench, whether or not he has a jury. If he is found guilty, it is you who must impose the sentence and its degree. There is, to date, no known case of a miscarriage of justice occurring within your court.

A judge who must mete out sentences which include life imprisonment and mandatory life [no parole possible] must be a special type of human being and a woman jurist, even more so. Speaking with you at length, one perceives at a judge must be fair, yet disinterested; impartial and yet involved in the fundamental principles of righteousness and duty.

And at once aware where leniency is in the order of wisdom or severity the only possible answer — for the identical charge.

WHEN ASKED if, in your general disposition of sentence, you tended to be moderate or severe, you answered: "Moderate but I'm getting tougher." Perhaps voters will be encouraged with your firm stand in view of the crime rate in the cities today and its character of viciousness.

And of this, the appalling incidence of crime, you say, "It's terrifying. You can hardly walk down a street at night. I don't even drive at night unless I lock my car door."

What is the reason for it? Even you, despite your long experience, with crime and criminals, don't really know. Nor do you know if, "more severe punishment will help or not."

You used to have a dog, a Boston Bull, who, to your sorrow, died two years ago. You cannot quite bear to replace him although you love animals and especially dogs. He was appropriately named "Judge."

You are a sportsman in the truest sense of words . . . you have bagged to your credit thus far two bucks. Also, you are a fisherman's fisherman. You won the World's Prize for Hawaiian salmon in Honolulu in May, 1961. You do, however, apparently disregard the old sailor's maxim: Never change the name of a ship or kill a dolphin. In Florida, in the deep waters of the Atlantic, you have killed dolphins, some weighing as much as 25 pounds. You have also caught amberjacks there and tuna.

Possibly because of the years of the wearing of somber robes in court, you prefer, in private life, frilly feminine clothes, lacey things in pastel shades—and this choice of apparel bespeaks a womanly aspect of your nature that the courtroom is not necessarily privileged to perceive.

You hold a position most often filled by the masculine genre but you are womanhood you say: "They do a lot more than men do; and they don't get the thanks for it. They don't get the appointments. But when men want a job done, they give it to a group of women."

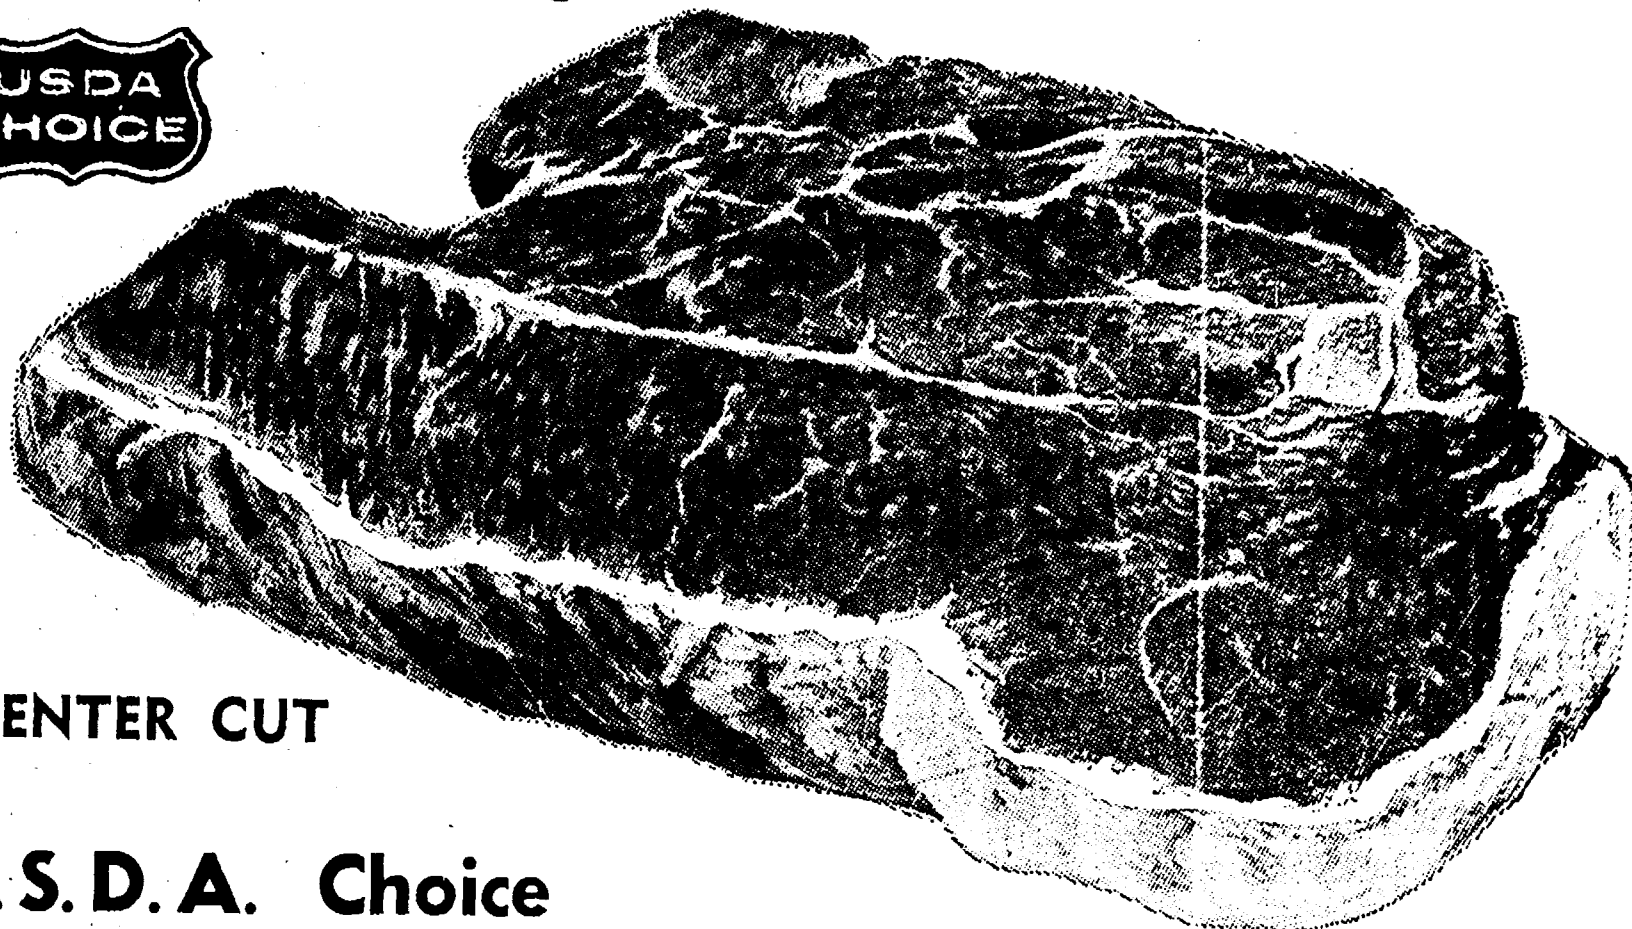

IT IS difficult for a writer to attempt to describe, too familiarly, a person whose title is incorporated with the word Honorable. However, one may say, you are the down-to-earth, frank-speaking type of person who cuts through the frills and flowers to the bare clear Truth. You strike the interviewer as a woman who has always called a spade by its given name—and a convicted murderer by his. And that the years of weighing justice on the delicate balance of testimony has washed all the usual womanly gush away with the frivolity. Appropriately, your experience on the bench has equipped you with mental mechanism that tilts when truth is not spoken in your courtroom.

CAMP DINNER

- - - In Twenty Minutes

All the camp cooks I know would rather spend most of their time hiking or swimming than doing kitchen duty. That's why camp cooks collect recipes featuring convenience foods that can make campsite meals easy and exciting.

Beef stew with potato dumplings is a hearty one-dish meal that can be cooked on a small camp stove. It's an ideal way to use yesterday's leftover roast or steak and can be prepared in about twenty minutes. Mashed potato flakes make dumplings possible in only minutes with no potatoes to peel and little clean-up later.

CAMP MENU

Beef Stew and Dumplings
Toasted Salad with
Tomatoes and Cucumbers
Milk Coffee
Cookies

BEEF STEW AND DUMPLINGS

1 envelope (3 1/2 oz.)
Mushroom Gravy mix
1 cup water
1 can (1 lb.) mixed vegetables
2 to 3 cups leftover cubed cooked beef

Dumplings:

1/2 cup mashed potato flakes
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Empty gravy mix into large skillet and gradually stir in water. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Add vegetables and meat. Cover pan and simmer while preparing dumplings.

Prepare mashed potatoes as directed on package for 2 servings. Stir in egg with a fork. Combine flour and baking powder and add to potato mixture. Blend until flour is moistened. Drop by spoonfuls onto bubbling stew. Cover tightly and continue simmering 15 minutes without uncovering. Makes 4 servings.

Midtown Holds Lead in Red Division

CLASS B SLO-PITCH RED DIVISION

	W	L
Midtown	12	2
Adrian Sign	12	4
White Stag Inn	11	4
Faigle Tool & Die	8	5
Golden Key Billiards	7	6
Spirit of Bryant Ford	7	6
49'ers	5	9
Adray	3	14

Dennis Juazunas scattered seven hits as Red Division leader Midtown held onto first place with a 6-4 win over second place Adrian Sign.

A loss by Midtown would have dropped the two teams into a tie. Stan Lopata and Dan Whitmer each had successive base hits and scored four runs for the leaders.

Golden Key Billiards fought a losing battle with Faigle Tool and Die as a walk and a base hit in the ninth inning provided Faigle the 3-2 margin.

Tom Lackey celebrated his birthday with a lead off home run in the first inning as Bryant Ford defeated White Stag Inn, 6-1. White Stag bounced back to our class Adray, 16-1.

THE PUSSYCATS with a 15-0 record just keep rolling along. The latest victim was McDonalds. Don Tinske again stroked the biggest hit, a sixth inning homer to feature the 5-0 shutout.

Earlier in the week Norm Linske got into the homerun act with the big blow as Huffmaster fell, 18-4.

Bob Shuk led Jim Purcell to a 12-1 victory over last place Marty's Welding. Before bowling to the Pussycats, McDonald's had blasted "Ray morning" 11-6. Jeff Lash, the number eight batter, had three for four and scored twice in leading his team to the victory.

In the blue division J & Y Bar has the momentum to carry to the top position if the leading "Playboys" falter. This past week's action saw them climb from a distant fourth to a close second.

Nine hits and nine runs in the fourth inning proved the difference in a 14-7 conquest of Miller's Chrome. Tom Radcliff stroked a three run triple to lead the attack. The Thunderbirds didn't show up so an easy forfeit victory put J & Y Bar into the second spot.

Another home run by Paul Christoff led Cudillo Realty to the 12-10 victory over Charvis Mobil.

Amen All-Stars dropped a pair and two notches in the league standings. Two home runs by Carmen Morga were too much in the first game as Allen Fence took a 15-8 decision. Miller's Chrome got an easy victory on a forfeit in the other All-Star loss.

Redford Grips Tighter to First

CLASS A BASEBALL STANDINGS

	W	L
Redford	16	3
Boring	10	5
Livonia	9	5
Dearborn Heights	8	9
Bach	6	12
Inkster	2	17

Redford Township scored twin victories during 'A' League action this past week to strengthen their hold on first place in the team standings.

Homeruns by Bob Masson and Dick Harlow powered Redford past second place King Boring, 6-1. Don Paige limited the losers to three hits.

Redford rolled past Dearborn entry Bach, 5-1, scoring three big runs in the fourth inning behind back-to-back triples by Jim Pobiersky and David Wolock and a round tripper by Bob Green. Redford ace Tom Tanner scattered four hits in the winning cause.

Later in the week Dearborn Bach bounced back to edge Dearborn Heights, 1-0. Bob Lewis' single in the bottom of the seventh inning drove in Bernie Parker for the margin of victory. Ron Fair struck out seven and allowed only three Heights hits.

Behind the one hit pitching of Larry Gudith, King Boring shut out Inkster, 4-0. Inkster miscues were the big factor in the Boring win.

A seventh inning single by Dan Longlin led Livonia to a 6-5 upset over Dearborn Bach.

A two run second inning was all Dearborn Heights needed to squeeze past Inkster, 2-1. Consecutive singles by Bob Enos, Dave Pavilka and Ron Fair knocked in the two runs to give Heights the winning edge.

Outdoors with Gordie

In days not too long past, the average "sportsman" was a person who went hunting or fishing with a single purpose in mind—to kill something.

An increasing number of people, however, are finding they don't necessarily have to kill off part of the outdoors in order to find enjoyment there. This can hold true, even though a person might actually be engaged in hunting or fishing.

It is likely that those who enjoy "just looking" already outnumber the combined total of hunters or fishermen. If you take into consideration those sportsmen who are satisfied with a day spent outdoors, even though they may fail to get either game or fish, then the "just looking" group is already in the majority.

NOBODY HAS to be a rugged, he-man individual, such as the sportsman likes to portray himself, in order to enjoy what he finds outdoors. Thousands of folks, for example enjoy automobile drives through the countryside with no thought in mind other than to enjoy looking at scenery and other attractions. Wildlife close to a road is always viewed with interest.

The first green-up of early spring brings deer out near the roads and within easy range of amateur photographers or the "just lookers." Spring also brings sharp-tailed grouse onto their traditional dancing grounds. In areas where these birds are still found, many a nature lover is willing to get up at 3:00 a.m. to move into a blind on these grounds to watch the birds perform their fascinating mating rituals.

Hiking is a year-round hobby with some who like to take advantage of the peaceful quiet found in roadless areas. They look for rare wild flowers to photograph, identify new bird species, collect rocks or possibly pick mushrooms or wild berries in season. Trees are a source of enjoyment to some who like to look for new big tree records. Where snow or soft ground is found, there are bird and animal tracks to be observed.

Swimming, canoeing, water skiing, all leave a water surface unchanged and are legitimate uses of this resource. There are many, many other parts of the outdoors being used today by outdoor-minded people who can enjoy without killing something.

THE HUNTER with a bulging game pocket or the fisherman with a heavy string of fish do not have priority on the outdoors.

Neither is more important nor less important than other users of the outdoors.

Appreciation of the outdoors by a majority of all the people is an absolute necessity if there is to be any kind of future for our natural resources.

HAVING FUN in the sun and the sand are these youngsters who enjoyed a trip to Camp Dearborn. Helping to "bury" Debbie Rizk, 5, of 7345 Pinehurst, were (left to right) her sisters Lisa, 2, and Christine, 8, with Mark Karoub, 2, of Westland grading the pile.

SEEN AND HEARD BY JIM LIMBACHER

Suburban Married Couples Get the 'Going Over'

The subject of sex in the suburbs has been getting a good going over in the movies lately and within the last month, three films have arrived on Detroit screens which attack the subject — one for laughs, one for real and one as a background for violence.

MANY SUBURBAN married couples are going to feel a little guilty or perhaps sheepish on witnessing these films, for although they are all Hollywood products, they have enough universal truths in them to cause many a husband and wife to ruminate over their content.

Fox's "A Guide to the Married Man" covers the manly art of two-timing — played strictly for laughs — and how one man tried and failed. Opinions of those who have already seen it vary from "hilarious" to "disgusting" and "in bad taste."

Granted that the married man's pursuit of other women and trying to disguise the fact has been the basis for other comedies, this one goes all out, using a dozen stars in small cameo roles which act out the illustrations of the instructor (in this case Robert Morse) and absorbed by his willing pupil (Walter Matthau).

BACHELORS WILL laugh loud and long at the inventive comic situations which are peppered throughout the picture. People like Lucille Ball, Art Carney, Phil Silvers, Carl Reiner, Sam Jaffe and the late Jayne Mansfield are all seen to good advantage, and Jeffrey Hunter and oldtimer Eddie Quillan are seen in one-sentence roles.

Slickly photographed, nicely plotted and full of all sorts of mischief, "A Guide to the Married Man" will either convulse you or repel you. Married men, beware. Bachelors, have fun. You'll love it. The terrible toll taken by the married man is shown rather graphically in this well-written comedy about the high price of divorce. Although played for laughs, the film has a more serious intent than most marital comedies and says something which should be heeded by all young people in selecting their lifetime mates.

In the hands of Dick Van Dyke and Debbie Reynolds, the film sparkles with laughs as well as a few heart tugs as two people get taken through the wringer by well-meaning friends and families. It often borders between slapstick and serious drama, but Norman Lear's script keeps it entertainment all the way.

The supporting cast includes such stalwarts as Jason Robards, Jean Simmons, Van Johnson, Eileen Brennan and even Jackie Searle, the mean little kid in so many films of the 1930's who is now bald and fortyish. He's in the party scene and doesn't even get a line of dialog.

"DIVORCE AMERICAN Style" is one of the most entertaining pictures of the summer season and there's no reason why parents shouldn't take the kids. They might as well learn right now what they may be in for later.

Despite its title, "Banning" is not about censorship, but rather the name of a dubious hero in the dubious world of the country club set where rich people, and those who wish to appear so, spend their time gambling, wife-swapping and playing golf.

Actually, the core of the film is about golf, but it's not very sporting the way it's done in the picture. Robert Wagner is the rather unsavory hero who attempts to make money from a round-robin golf tournament and Howard St. John is his rich foe. The girls are Jill St. John and Anjanette Comer [from "The Loved One"], so there is plenty of beauty around.

The natural settings of a plush country club and the intrigue between many different kinds of people [none of them very nice] are interesting and the story is well enough written to keep the alert viewer on his toes. Quincy Jones' musical score [he also scored "The Pawnbroker"] is a definite "plus", as in the color camerawork.

Altogether, "Banned" is the kind of a film you can take or leave alone, but it will be entertaining enough for a summer evening.

FOR ANY of the three films reviewed today, it might be wise for the philandering husband to suggest that he and his better half go to a play instead. It just might give her ideas or confirm some deep-seated suspicions. And, after all, no one should feel uncomfortable in the comfortable movie theaters we have today.

Next week's column will cover two new films in which sex isn't even a factor. They are two of the biggest and best films of the year — "The Dirty Dozen" and "To Sir, With Love."

THE ROAD TO EXPO '67 will be both long and bumpy for Leslie R. Henry, curator of transportation for the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village even in this sporty Model "T" Ford Racer. But in its day this machine won the 1909 Transcontinental race from New York to Seattle. Henry, with a turn of the crank, is scheduled to make it to Montreal on Aug. 4.

Library's Date Stone Placed on Sunday

The completion of Dearborn's Henry Ford Centennial Library will surge ahead another step Sunday when a date stone is placed on the building front.

Being constructed at the Civic Center on Michigan Ave. near Greenfield from a Ford Foundation Grant, the library will be completed by late 1968.

Officials from Ford Foundation, Ford Motor Company, city officials and the architect will hold the placement ceremonies at 2 p.m. at the $3 million building. This particular date was chosen because it is the 104th anniversary of Henry Ford's birthday.

When complete, the three-story structure will include a 300 seat lecture hall, modern meeting rooms and exhibition areas, and room for 300,000 volumes.

Librarian Rollin Marquis said the new facility will serve as the city's main library building and will also house the audio-visual and bookmobile divisions.

"This library will provide the very latest in reader services while serving as a fitting home town memorial to the man whose work and life have made such an enormous impact on the world," said Mayor Orville Hubbard.

Festival Opens Wednesday

It's Fine Arts time again. THE FESTIVAL opens Wednesday, August 2 with a 12-day moving program that takes in areas of music, drama and dance.

The program swings. "We're stressing quality instead of quantity," said director of recreation, Robert Keith Archer. "We are doing fewer shows and repeating them so more people can see them."

The schedule: A free choral and dance concert Wednesday night, August 2, featuring the Dearborn Summer Choral, The Dearborn Recreation Dance Ensemble and the harmonica quartet, The Harmonicals opens the Festival.

The Choral will perform medleys from two musicals, "Funny Girl" and "Man from LaMancha" plus other familiar songs such as "Sentimental Journey" and "Lady of Spain."

The Dance Ensemble will play jazz dancing and an original dance sequence, Graduation Ballet Suite. The popular harmonica quartet, The Harmonicals, will lend their unique stylings to such favorites as "Georgie Girl" and "Music to Watch Girls By."

In one of the few afternoon performances, "Hansel & Gretel" will be presented at 2 p.m. Thursday and Friday, August 3 and 4, with a large cast under the direction of Charles Brickel.

The Dearborn Civic Theatre summer production of the sophisticated comedy "Sunday In New York" follows with evening performances on Friday and Saturday, August 4 and 5, at 8:30 p.m.

THE CAST, directed by Wallace Smith includes Howard McFarland as the beleaguered bachelor, Adam Taylor; Lorene Brooks as his eager young sister, Eileen Taylor; John Vicich as her stodgy fiancée, Russ Wilson; Jon Choate as the not-so innocent bystander, Mike Mitchell and Barbara Wilcox and Harry Albertson as the versatile duo that trace the fast-paced action to its hilarious climax.

Mystery Surrounds Dearborn Musical

Think you can act?

THE DEARBORN Theatre's first production of the season is looking for some actors.

Casting tryouts for the yet unnamed musical will be held at the Youth Center at 7:30 p.m. on August 14, 15 and 16.

Swim In Line

More than 300 swimmers from the city sponsored swimming program will put on their dancing shoes in a water ballet and comedy routine.

Featured on August 8 and 9 will be the twenty-second annual Synchronized Swimming Show presented at the Stout Pool.

"Watervision" will be the theme of the show this year which will include a variety of 25 acts.

"It's a terrific musical. One with many interesting parts for singers, actors and dancers," said Ken Hansen, city fine arts coordinator. "There are parts for people 15-year-olds on up, with most of the cast falling in the 19 to 45 age range."

Tryouts must be held immediately because the show is scheduled for performances on Oct. 6, 7, 12 and 13. Rehearsal schedules will be available during tryouts so that people auditioning can see how much time will be required if they are cast in the show.

"We are hoping people will come and try out, even if we can't publish the name of the musical," said Hansen. "Maybe some people will come just to find out early what play we're doing. They wouldn't be disappointed."

Alters Draft Card

A Dearborn Heights youth spent a night in jail when Dearborn police discovered he carried an altered draft card.

Police had stopped Jeffery E. Grant of 27230 Dextor, asked to see his drivers license. The birth date was altered.

Then Grant was asked to produce his draft card. The name on that was Grant E. Maxwell and it had been taped over the name of David E. Maxwell.

Add-A-Day to Parcel Post

For the first time in three years there'll be six-day delivery of parcel post beginning July 29.

Dearborn Postmaster George A. Martin said the extra-day delivery results from a White House directive restoring the six-day week that had been cut in May 1964 for economy reasons.

Martin said the added day service would "remove an inequity for many business and residential routes."

Dearborn Founders' Series

Gulley Farmhouse, Elks Club

By WINFIELD H. ARNESON

Throughout history one generation has carried on the torch of the preceding one. This may have been done in dissimilar ways but nevertheless it was accomplished. Such is the story of two Dearborn Founders — in this case a father and his son.

Alfred Buck Gulley represents another pioneer family of the 19th Century in early Dearborn. He was born December 22, 1819, in Potsdam, New York, reared on a farm there and received a public school education. His father, also named Alfred, brought the family to Dearbornville in the 1830's and established a farm.

SON ALFRED became a successful farmer on acreage where Gulley Road and Michigan Avenue now intersect. His was a large farm, and the 1880 brick mansion still stands — now the home of the Dearborn Elks Club. During the Civil War the onion yield was outstanding. Many livestock were bred on the farm including prize hogs.

Gulley's success in Michigan farming was outstanding. It was noteworthy that he was called to the old Michigan Agricultural College [now Michigan State University] at East Lansing to become a professor of practical agriculture. This position took him away from Dearborn from 1875-78. While at the school he also served as superintendent of the college farm.

Professor Gulley at one stage of his life was president of a farmers mutual insurance company. He was a member of the Michigan legislature in 1851.

Alfred married the former Sophia A. Abell on December 3, 1846. They had 11 children. One of these progenies was Frank Arthur Gulley, born April 24, 1850. It can be assumed that the farm interest he took as a youngster growing up in Dearborn had a direct bearing on his future professional plans. As a school boy he helped his father and brothers with farm chores, later managed his father's farm. Young Frank became one of four of the senior Gulley's sons to be graduated from Michigan Agricultural College. The year was 1880. Three years later he earned his master's degree from the same land-grant school.

DURING HIS first year in college Frank studied under many noted professors, including his father. Although Frank, unlike most of Dearborn's Founders, did not spend his adult years in his native Dearborn, he nevertheless is deserving of recognition. His life work was molded in Dearborn and he became an agricultural ambassador of his small home town.

Frank Gulley was an exceptional student. Upon graduation he was appointed acting professor of "Scientific and practical agriculture and horticulture," at Mississippi Agricultural College. At this new school of higher learning he was involved in agriculture, horticulture, anatomy and physiology, veterinary science, entomology, botany, and zoology. He also taught and eventually assumed the duties of superintendent of the college farm.

Gulley was active and served as an officer in civic associations including the local Grange, the Gulf States Devon Breeders Association, and was a contributor of articles to various farm journals.

In 1887 Frank, at the suggestion of the Mississippi president, S. D. Lee, wrote an elementary textbook on agriculture for use in colleges as well as State high schools. It was titled "First Lessons in Agriculture." A revised edition appeared in 1902.

The year 1888 took Professor Gulley to the new Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. He became its director at an annual salary of $3,000. He carried on his Mississippi work here and became interested in cattle feeding research. This work included scholarly treatises and reports.

GULLEY BECAME associated with the University of Arizona in 1890. He worked with colleagues on the chemistry and commercial production of canaigre. Canaigre is a perennial herb having tuberous roots that yield tannin. Numerous papers were published by this third-generation Dearbornite while at Arizona.

Other callings found Professor Gulley the superintendent of the Anglo-American Canaigre Company of Phoenix, and the manager of a large chicken hatchery near St. Louis. He devoted some time to writing and research.

Falling vision brought Gulley "home" to Dearborn in the mid-1920's. He lived with his sister, the late Mrs. Louis (Mina) Ives. He was totally blind by 1937 and died on August 26, 1938, at 89.

Dearborn Founders father Alfred B. Gulley, who died March 15, 1891, and son Frank A. Gulley left behind a proud heritage.

Employers' Tax Dates

Tax men, always with an eye on the calendar, have a timely reminder for employers: Monday, July 31, is the due date for reporting and paying withheld income and social security taxes for the quarter ended June 30.

District Director of Internal Revenue, A.M. Stoepker said reporting should be done on Form 941 with attachments of depositary receipts received for April and May.

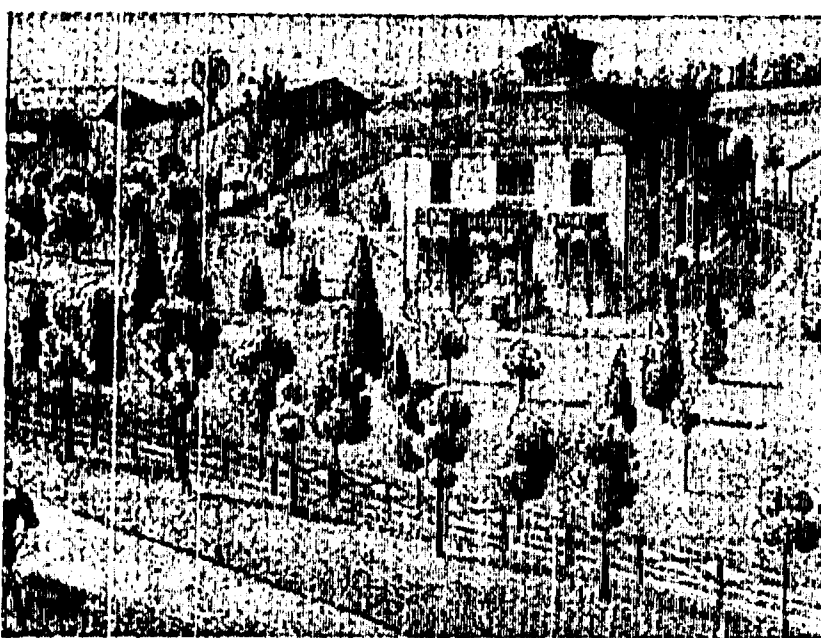

Stoepker noted that employers who made full deposits in Federal Reserve Banks or authorized commercial banks, sufficient to pay their full tax liability for the June 30 quarter have until Aug. 10 to file returns.

LCC Cites Two Taverns

Owners of two Dearborn taverns were scheduled for hearings today before the State Liquor Control Commission on alleged LCC violations.

Stephen and Mary Jane Varady of the Midway Cafe and Bar, at 13254 Michigan Avenue, were cited for selling after the legal hour.

Taft Abed and Robert Abraham of the Pal-O-Mar Bar, at 10301 W. Warren face a complaint of selling spirits on Sunday.

GULLEY FARMHOUSE

FOUR AREA Boy Scouts will hop a charter flight to Lincoln, Nebraska next month for the Order of the Arrow National Conference. Those going are, left to right; Richard Hynnar, of 7629 Reuter, Dearborn; John Sedlak, of 6805 Theisen, Dearborn; James Eubanks, Detroit; and John Pierce, of 7319 Yinger, Dearborn. More than 4,500 scouts and their leaders will attend the conference Aug. 28 to Sept. 1.

Costly Home Improvements

Homeowners who spend more than they should for landscaping and other improvements may find it harder to sell, should they decide to do so.

THIS WAS A point made by Earl Keim, president of the Dearborn Board of Realtors.

Keim said that "excess landscaping" and "residential overimprovement" add up to bigger home values often exceeding what prospective buyers will pay.

"Practically all home purchasers have sufficient snobbery to seek a $25,000 house in a $25,000 neighborhood," Keim said, "before paying $25,000 for a house in an excellent $15,000 neighborhood."

Keim noted that houses with features not found in typical houses in a neighborhood often are overimproved. The list includes swimming pools, excess kitchen equipment and patios.

"These features add little to the property's value because buyers of this type of house do not expect them and do not want them badly enough to pay for them," Keim said.

"If they want them badly enough to pay for them," he added, "and are able to pay for them, they will look in a higher-priced neighborhood where such extras are the rule rather than the exception."

Residential overimprovement is defined as "when a house is larger or more elaborate than most other houses on the street."
